The DAILY WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

Ambassador Cintas on Hot Spot Between Machado and Welles

WASHINGTON — Oscar Cintas, bull-voiced Ambassador of Cuba, is sitting on the diplomatic hot-spot these days.

There is nothing he would like more than to see the dictator of Cuba, Gerardo Machado, ousted from the presidency. And yet there is nothing he would like less than to see Ambassador Sumner Welles get credit for the ousting.

The reason is: He doesn't like Machado and he doesn't like Welles.

To a friend he recently said: "I would give a handsome present to anyone who could get Machado out of office."

What he meant was anyone except Sumner Welles. At one time he and the American Ambassador were great pals. They exchanged formal dinners and many compliments just before [illegible] assumed his new post.

But about a month ago Cintas went to Cuba. And during that trip he went to [illegible] on Welles. The American Ambassador was harassed, received Cintas rather briefly, did not adopt all his suggestions.

The Cuban Ambassador left offended, returned to Washington to spread the word that Welles was a bungler.

Democratic Ladies

A big blow-up is shaping behind the scenes among female Democrats. The rank and file ladies are up in arms over the juicy patronage plums being dropped to the so-called "national leaders" of their sex.

There is no protest over the naming of Miss Frances Perkins to the Labor portfolio. Her preeminence is recognized; also the right of the President to make his own cabinet selections.

But over the appointment of Ruth Bryan Owen, as Minister to Denmark; Mrs. Nellie Tayloe Ross to the sinecure berth of Director of the Mint; and Mrs. Blair Bannister, to the even softer job of Assistant U. S. Treasurer, there are bellicose mutterings.

The irate ladies utterly fail to see why such lucrative recognition should be given this trio. And they are pointedly informing Patronage Dispenser Jim Farley that whereas the others got all the glory of the 1932 campaign, it was the rank and file ladies who garnered the votes.

They want something done about it—pronto. As one indignant mid-western Committeewoman wrote Farley: "We are getting sick and tired of waiting."

Alcohol Investigation

The Department of Justice has launched a secret investigation of some of the biggest industrial alcohol companies in the country. If the investigation is pushed to the limit the country's chief source of bootleg alky and gin may come under the spotlight of publicity.

Justice officials are also inquisitive about the brewery permits given to racketeering gangs. This was one of the reasons for the demise of A. V. Dalrymple as Director of Prohibition. He signed permits for Al Capone's brewery in Ohio and Max Hassel's in north Jersey. When the latter was murdered shortly thereafter, a lot of embarrassing questions were asked.

But Dalrymple was a green man, might not have recognized these gangsters. However, Dr. James W. Doran, Commissioner of Industrial Alcohol, was not. And some higher-ups are now wondering why Doran let the permits pass.

The result is that Doran, a Republican, but kept in office so far through Joseph Tumulty, secretary of Woodrow Wilson, may follow the

PICKENS TO RESIGN FOR FEDERAL JOB; MANY SEEK OFFICE

Accused Banker

Z. D. Bonner, until last week president of the Commercial National Bank, of San Antonio, Texas, who has been charged in five complaints with receiving stolen property in connection with the alleged sale of $500,000 worth of U. S. bonds to the bank. Five others face similar charges.

Clerk of Courts Becomes District Attorney for Homeowners Loan Corporation at Salary of $3,600; Commissioners Have Power to Appoint Successor After Getting Resignation Next Monday

Pickaway-co's commissioners were being beleaguered by applicants for the clerk of courts appointment today following announcement that Ferd M. Pickens, serving his second term, will resign to become district attorney for the Columbus branch of the Federal Homeowners' Loan Corporation.

Mr. Pickens will present his formal resignation at next Monday's meeting of the commissioners.

His appointment was officially announced Friday by Thomas E. Dye, manager of the Columbus branch of the corporation in the following statement:

"It is with extreme gratification that I am able to advise you of your appointment to the position of attorney for the Columbus branch of the Home Loan corporation.

"You will kindly report at your earliest convenience.

"In selecting you for this department I do it conscious of the fact that you have been a valued servant for your constituency, and that it will be necessary for you to resign your position as clerk of the courts, but I feel they will be willing to make the sacrifice in view of the fact that you will become a valuable contribution to the great reconstruction program of President Roosevelt.

"I sincerely trust you will accept this appointment.

THOMAS E, DYE,
Manager, Columbus Branch
Homeowners Loan Corp."

RECEIVES $3,600

Pickens, who was in Columbus Friday getting his job 'organized,' will receive $3,600 a year. He will be located in the Home Loan office at the southeast corner of Spring and High-sts, Columbus.

Thirty-one counties are in the district over which Pickens will have legal supervision. They include Clark, Madison, Logan, Champaign, Union, Greene, Fayette, Ross, Pickaway, Richland, Ashland, Knox, Fairfield, Perry, Hocking, Gallia, Jackson, Athens, Vinton, Meigs, Muskingum, Washington, Morgan, Monroe, Licking, Guernsey, Noble, Coshocton, Delaware, Lawrence and Franklin.

Sub-offices will be set up in the various counties with one office to supervise two or three counties. Pickaway and Ross counties are merged with Dan Harness, of Chillicothe, being appointed manager with offices in Chillicothe. An appraiser and an attorney are yet to be appointed for each county. These appointments will probably be known within a few days.

Mr. Pickens in a statement, Friday, said:

"I was hesitant to accept the appointment because I had a year to serve as clerk of courts. I considered the position from every angle and decided to accept when I was certain another Democrat would be named to the office. My appointment to this position means that two jobs in Pickaway-co will be opened for deserving Democrats. (Mrs. Pickens will also resign as deputy clerk as soon as a successor to Mr. Pickens has been named).

"I regret that my business will keep me in Columbus all the time but I intend to maintain my residence in Circleville.

"I will present my resignation to the commissioners next Monday."

ON SECOND TERM

Mr. Pickens became clerk of courts Aug. 5, 1929. He is now serving his second term having been granted an extension on his first term by act of legislature. Mrs. Pickens has been his deputy since he took office.

Two of the three county commissioners disclosed Friday that more than 20 persons have been to see them since Thursday afternoon when it was learned Mr. Pickens would receive the office. The other commissioner could not be reached but it is supposed he has received his share of applicants.

The commissioners have power to name a clerk of courts within 10 days after the resignation of the present clerk. After that the auditor of the county has appointment power. It is believed the only power the Democratic committee has is to recommend appointment. With the board comprised entirely of Democrats it is safe to believe a Democrat will be selected.

KIRWIN GETS JOB

Announcement was made Friday that Joseph Kirwin, son of Mr. and Mrs. John M. Kirwin, S. Court-st, has obtained a position in the Home Loan office. He was called to Columbus Thursday afternoon by Mr. Pickens. Kirwin who has had considerable experience in clerical work has not yet been assigned a definite duty.

REPORT ROOSEVELT DEMANDS CUBAN PEACE, OR U. S. ACTION

HAVANA, Aug. 11.—The "passive revolution" against President Gerardo Machado, which has paralyzed Cuba for a week, neared a climax today with the island's population expecting early intervention by the United States.

In the face of many startling rumors, Machado's position appeared strengthened by a break in the general strike.

Leaders of the street railway and bus workers ordered their followers back to work at noon, and the outcome of the whole general strike was believed to depend on how many workers would obey their leaders and return to their jobs.

Added to this, a reliable source in Police headquarters stated the government plans to force transfer of food-stuffs from closed wholesale houses to stores, all of which are keeping their side doors open, although they lack merchandise with the exception of high priced liquors.

This action, if carried out, may aid in combatting the food shortage and widespread hunger in Havana and elsewhere.

There were persistent reports President Roosevelt had served an ultimatum on Machado to resign today under threat of American intervention, and there were many variations of these reports. Some of the rumors asserted Machado had to restore order today or the United States would land marines on Cuban shores.

All these reports were denied at the American embassy. Spokesmen there declared Ambassador Sumner Welles was continuing his mediation efforts to effect a peaceful settlement of Cuba's turbulent political affairs.

DOWDY ACTIVE IN CROP WORK

Wheat Adjuster To Announce Committee Next Week; Meetings Planned.

Guy Dowdy, Pickaway-co's wheat adjustment administrator, is rapidly completing his plans and is drawing up a program to acquaint the farmers with the provisions of the Agricultural Adjustment Act, he said Friday.

A county-wide committee has been named but has not been confirmed, although he expects to announce its personnel Monday, Mr. Dowdy announced.

A series of meetings will be held in each township in the county at which perplexing questions will be answered and a thorough explanation of the act will be given. The time and place of the meetings will be disclosed next week.

Mr. Dowdy said Friday that the first step a farmer must take to participate in the provisions of the act is to determine the number of acres seeded to wheat in 1929, 1930 and 1931, and then get the number of bushels of wheat harvested in 1930, 1931, and 1932. These facts must be known before an application is signed, Mr. Dowdy said.

3 ARE KILLED

NEWARK, Aug. 11.—Hurled under the wheels of a moving freight train, three persons were dead today and two others were under treatment for serious injuries at City Hospital here.

The dead are: Harold Galloway, 18; John Galloway, 19, his brother, and Imogene Galloway, 14, their sister.

The injured were Mrs. Chloe Galloway, 45, mother of the victims, and another child, Harvey Galloway, 5.

All of the victims were from Summit Station in Licking-co.

Urschel Freedom Cost $199,620

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla., Aug. 11.—Relatives of Charles F. Urschel paid a staggering ransom of $199,620 for the multi-millionaires oil operator's release, serial numbers on the bills broadcast to banks today revealed.

Authorities admitted that the ransom payment was the largest ever made.

Serial numbers of 2,981 $20 bills were sent to banks throughout the country. All of the bills were drawn from the federal reserve bank in Kansas City. The ransom was said to have been paid to Urschel's kidnapers in a Kansas City hotel.

NEW UPSIDE DOWN PLANE MARK SET

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 11.—Milo Burcham, Long Beach, Cal., aviator today held a new world's record for upside down flight.

With his head pointed earthward and his plane's landing gear skyward Burcham flew here from San Diego in one hour, 46 minutes, 59 seconds.

The previous record was held by Lieut. Tito Falconi, of Italy, now in Los Angles, who flew upside down at Torento, Italy, for one hour and seven minutes.

Planes Prepared To Carry Eagles Over East, South

Fleet of 30 Awaiting Orders From Farley; To Visit Many Cities.

NEW YORK, Aug. 11.—Thirty army planes, including a fleet of large Martin bombers, were on the runaways of Floyd Bennett field today awaiting the signal from Postmaster General James A. Farley which will send them carrying nine tons of NRA blue eagle posters to 12 cities in the east and the south.

Officials said, however, that threatening weather may delay the start of the aerial propaganda drive.

Accompanying the planes in their parade over New York will be an autogyro and a blimp each with a 120 foot streamer behind it with the message, "NRA. We Do Our Part."

MINING FIGHT NEARS CRISIS

Perpetuation of Company Union Demanded; Deadlock Now Exists.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 11.—Efforts of the National Recovery Administration to bring the nation's great basic industries under permanent industrial codes approached a crisis today as coal barons of the Appalachian and northern fields demands prepetuation of the company union.

A deadlock prevailed between the powerful Appalachian and northern group, dominated by Morgan and Mellon influences, and the unionized operators of states farther west.

With a terrific fight raging over bituminous coal, and hearing on the 25 codes submitted by this industry under way, efforts were made to hasten final adoption of the steel and oil codes. Both are being redrafted following extensive hearings.

J. P. Morgan and company is a dominant influence in the steel industry, which has operated for years on an open shop basis.

Demanding a 30-hour week and a basic wage scale of $5 per day, together with a single national code for the bituminous fields, John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine workers of America, declared the Appalachian and northern districts will be unionized despite all opposition.

83,566 SIGNED NRA PLEDGES

5,400 Jobs Created Per Day Since August 1, State Office Says

NEW BOOST SEEN

Steel Plants Dispense Huge Payrolls

CLEVELAND, Aug. 11.—The first official compilation of data on results of the NRA drive in Ohio today disclosed that the recovery program was creating jobs at the rate of 5,400 a day in the state.

Miss Mary E. Wood, Ohio NRA director, declared that there had been a gain of 10.45 per cent in employment since Aug. 1.

According to Miss Woods, all figures indicate the NRA campaign has doubled the rate at which employment picked up during the months of April, May, June and July.

Miss Woods also stated that there had been a tremendous increase in purchasing power as concerns throughout the state raised wages to conform with the blanket code.

83,566 ARE SIGNED

To date, she said, 83,566 employers in the state signed pledges to support the government program.

She predicted that the employment gain would be almost doubled by Sept. 1, as employers complete necessary adjustments in working hours and wages.

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Aug. 11.—The distribution of the largest semi-monthly payroll for steel workers in three years was underway today. It was estimated that approximately 50,000 workers would receive between $2,500,000 and $3,000,000.

One bank which honored the payroll checks reported that the average check was $48.37 as compared with $35.59 for the previous two-week period.

CHINATOWN SEEKS LAUNDERER'S CODE

WASHINGTON, Aug. 11.—The NRA drive has reached San Francisco's famous Chinatown.

The recovery administration received a telegram saying laundry owners in Chinatown wanted to frame a code.

Officials, however, said that Chinatown's laundries must be treated on the same basis as all others.

5 YOUNG MINERS GET LIFE TERMS

Murder of Girl By Gunfire While Sitting In House Brings Penalty.

JONESBORO, Ill., Aug. 11. — Life imprisonment was the penalty assessed today on four of the five young Du Quoin coal miners found guilty last night of the murder of Laverne Miller, 14-year-old high school girl.

The fifth defendant, Emery Albers, was sentenced to 40 years in the penitentiary. The four given life terms were Sam Ferro, Barney Bosette, Otis Battaglia and Robert Shingleton. A jury found the five guilty after several hours of deliberation.

Gunmen fatally wounded the girl on April 6 when they poured a fusillade of bullets into the Miller home while the controversy between rival nine unions was at fever pitch.

HI-JACKERS STEAL 84 POULTRY CRATES

NAPOLEON, Aug. 11.— Under the cover of the early morning darkness, a gang of hi-jackers today held up a poultry truck near here and escaped with 84 crates of poultry.

Using "stage-coach bandit" tactics, the hi-jackers forced the poultry truck into a ditch and overpowered Philips Salvia, 23, and Luther Reiser, 26. Both Reiser and Salvia were blindfolded and tied after which the hi-jackers disposed of the poultry loot.

Later, Reiser and Salvia were hauled to a point near Grand Rapids, O., where they were released and their truck restored.

Reiser and Salvia said they had no clue as to the identity of the hi-jackers.

In Recovery Post

Mary E. Hughes, of Louisville, Ky., new head of the women's division of the National Recovery Administration, is shown at her desk in the Commerce Department as she assumed her new duties. She's entrusted with the task of getting the nation's womanhood into line to aid recovery.

FARIS NAMES JOHN G. WARD

Local Man Begins Duties With Beer Commission; To Get Territory.

John G. "Doggy" Ward, Thursday, began working with the Ohio beer commission as an inspector following his appointment by L. L. Faris, in charge of the department.

Ward has not yet been assigned a definite territory but expects it within a few days.

He had been connected with the state prohibition department until two weeks ago when a reduction in that force caused a number of agents to lose their jobs. He was the only man transferred from the prohibition department to the beer commission.

Milton Cox, former Pickaway-co school superintendent, lost his job in the prohibition department at the same time Ward's position was abolished.

Police Court

REYNOLDS HELD

Robert Reynolds, of Yellowbud, father o feight children, was bound over to the grand jury under $500 bond by Mayor B. T. Hedges Thursday after he pleaded guilty to a charge of forgery.

Reynolds was arrested by Police Chief W. H. Warner and allegedly signed the name 'J. H. Shasteen' to a check for $4.65 which he presented to James Wickensimer, this city.

He was released from the city jail a week ago after he promised to stay out of Circleville following his arrest for intoxication.

TWO RELEASED

Robert Walters, of Derby, who has been in the county jail to serve out a fine for intoxication, and Fred Vincent, who has been held on a non-support charge, were released from the county jail Friday. Vincent gave bond.

GUSSMAN TO APPEAR

Rowe Gussman, Mingo-st, is to appear before Mayor B. T. Hedges at 7 p. m. Friday to answer to a charge of intoxication and conducting himself in a disorderly manner.

The affidavit was signed by Miss Pauline M. Hall, Logan-st.

DAWSON HELD

Richard Dawson, E. Mill-st, is being held in city jail, following his arrest at 5 p. m. Thursday by Officer William McCrady on a charge of assault and battery.

Mrs. Jane Dawson, his wife, filed the complaint. He will be given a hearing before Mayor B. T. Hedges sometime Friday.

COXEY FOR SENATE

MASSILLON, Aug. 11.— "General" Jacob Coxey, defeated Tuesday when he sought renomination as mayor, today denied he would retire from public life by announcing that he would be a candidate for U. S. senator from Ohio in 1934.

Although 79 years of age, Coxey, who held the famous march of the jobless to Washington in 1894, said "I'm just beginning."

LYLE'S CHOICE SANCTIONED BY ALL MEMBERS

$2,350 to Be Paid Fosdick and Hilmer, Cincinnati Engineers

TO START SOON

First Choice of Service Chief Withdrawn

City council next Wednesday evening at its regular meeting will approve appointment of Fosdick and Hilmer, Cincinnati engineers, to conduct a survey of the city's electrical and water needs. The report of the engineers will be used by council in an effort to obtain lower rates from both utility companies with possible municipal ownership of the utilities contemplated.

The appointment was unanimously approved, Thursday evening, when all members of council met in a committee session in the council chamber. Clyde O. Leist, First ward councilman and chairman of the service committee, presided.

TO RECEIVE $2,350

The salary to be paid Fosdick and Hilmer for the survey is $2,350, council having appropriated $2,500 for the purpose.

Recommendation of the firm was made by Service Director A. J. Lyle who has received piles of applications for the contract. At the last council meeting, August 2, Mr. Lyle recommended appointment of Kinney, Inc., of Cincinnati, but a snag was struck in committee meeting.

In order to obtain a unanimous opinion from council, Mr. Lyle withdrew the appointment and Thursday evening recommended that council hire Fosdick and Hilmer, although Kinney, Inc., offered to do the work at a lower price. Councilmen were of the opinion the work would be better done at the contract price asked by Fosdick and Hilmer.

BEGIN AT ONCE

The contract cannot be officially entered into until the next council meeting when the successful firm, which will have been notified by that time, is expected to be present. Work will probably start immediately after the contract has been consummated.

Council will use figures provided by the survey to determine whether or not rates paid to electric and water utilities are too high. The engineering firm will compare fair rates for both utilities.

Council voted, 4 to 3, to employ an engineer after the Circleville Citizens League urged such a step be taken in an effort to obtain reduced rates.

3 ADMIT ROBBING YOUTHFUL HIKERS

To Face Charges In Cambridge; Hoyt Tharp Robbery Is Confessed.

Charged with preying on young hitch-hikers and taking their clothing and money, three men were being held in the Guernsey-co jail at Cambridge today. They have allegedly admitted taking the clothing and money of Hoyt Tharp, Williamsport young man, Tuesday near Chillicothe.

All three, Donald Mowery, 19, of Lima; James Gallagher, 25, of Harrison, N. J., and Merl B. Richard, 27, of Fort Wayne, Ind., have been identified by a Wheeling, W. Va., youth as the men who took his clothes and money and tied him to a tree.

The same thing was done with Tharp.

The will face charges in Cambridge after taking the clothing and money of Fred Eckart, 25, of Boston, and Charles Medley, 22, of Rockeyville, Fla., near that city. Both victims have identified the band. It is claimed the arrested men have been perpetrating such crimes over a three-state radius.

ROTARY DISTRICT TO MEET MONDAY

The convention of the twenty-second district of Rotary International will be held Monday and Tuesday at Zanesville starting Monday morning at 10 o'clock. District Governor William Diehl will have charge of the meeting.

Those who will attend from here are President E. L. Daley, Secretary Nelson Sweyer and Past District Governor Meeker Terwilliger.

Oils Stop Rally, Edge Sluggers

The Circleville Oils were able to check a ninth inning rally of the Panthers Thursday evening and won a close game by the score of 4-2. The game was one of the fastest of the year, being played in 55 minutes and finished at 7:15 p. m.

The Panthers outhit the Oils 15-12, but were unable to connect with the apple at the crucial moment. The Oils scored their first run in the second inning when two were out and Parks hit a single. Merriman and Purcell followed with clean hits and Parks scored the first marker. The second run of the game was scored by the Panthers in the fifth by Don Johnson who hit safely and then came in on Bob Jones' drive.

Bob Peters scored the Oils' second run in the sixth after Jones had struck out two men. Merriman drove in Peters. The Oils won the game in the ninth when they pounded in two more runs to give them a lead which the Panthers couldn't overcome.

RALLY NIPPED

Charlie Davis started the ninth inning rally when he got a nice hit in center field. F. Thomas followed with another safety and Don Johnson popped up. Charlie Davis was put out at second but his brother Ike came to bat and hit a single over center field. Jay Henry hit a double and Ike Davis tried to make it home but was put out, retiring sides and ending the contest.

The pitchers, "Curly" Wallace for the Oils and Bob Jones for the Panthers hurled nice ball, the former striking out two men and the latter fanning five. Purcell and Heeter for the Oils and Henry and Jones for the Panthers, all with three hits each, were heavy clouters for their teams.

Tonight the Aces and Sinclair Oils will meet, the game called at 6:15 sharp.

The standing of the teams follow:

| Team | W. | L. | Pct. |

After Biggest Prize

Having won a total of 69 harness races in 1932, H. M. "Doc" Parshall (above), of Urbana, Ohio, is out to crown his great record by adding the $50,000 Hambletonian trotting classic to the scalps at his belt this year. The race is to be run at Goshen, N. Y., on August 16.

"NICK CULLOP'S" NIGHT IS SUCCESS

Slugger Receives Numerous Gifts As Dean Hurls 7 to 2 Victory.

COLUMBUS, Aug. 11.—The last game in their series of four was scheduled here today between the association leading Columbus Red Birds and the Minneapolis Miller, circuit champions who lost their third straight to the Birds by a score of 7 to 2 last night.

The victory was the 17th of the season for Paul Dean, younger brother of Dizzy Dean of the St. Louis Cards. The young hurler allowed eight hits and fanned 14 batters, four short of the all-time association record.

The game and an accompanying program of fireworks and athletic stunts were features of "Nick Cullip Night," dedicated to the hard-hitting Red Bird outfielder.

CHAMPION READY

SARATOGA, N. Y., Aug. 11.—Fully recovered from a bruised heel, Equipoise, America's handicap champion, will race in the $25,000 Hawthorne gold cup at Chicago on August 24, trainer Thomas Healey announced today.

PARMELEE HELPS GIANT CAMPAIGN

NEW YORK, Aug. 11.—One of the primary reasons the New York Giants are setting the pace in the National league race this year is the amazing improvement of Roy (Tarzan) Parmelee, the man who walks with a warble and pitches like a Waddell.

In his few appearances on the mound last season, the erstwhile wild man was of no more use than a blotter at the Johnstown flood, pitching no complete games and failing to win a single contest. This year he has won ten games against five defeats, has twice narrowly missed turning in a no-hit classic and is one of the outstanding luminaries of New York's all-star mound staff.

The "man who walks like a yak" particularly dotes on the hard-hitting Phillies. He held them to one hit on April 26 and hurled hitless ball against them for seven innings yesterday. The Quakers got two safe hits before the last towel was lifted but Parmelee had no difficulty in hanging up a 4 to 0 shutout, his third whitewash of the season and the eighteenth of the year for the New York pitching staff.

The victory put the Giants 3 1-2 games in front of the idle Pirates.

M'CARTHY SCORES PLAYERS' MORALE

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 11.—The New York Yankees today were smarting under a severe tongue-lashing administered by their irate manager, Joe McCarthy.

Not sparing a single member of the squad, "Marse Joe" delivered a sweeping denunciation of the fading champions, who have been in a prolonged slump. Even one player, who has been a chronic bench warmer, was hauled over the coals for his "lack of interest in the affairs of the club.

McCarthy intimated he is thinking of tearing down the club and rebuilding for next year unless the morale and play of the team shows immediate improvement.

Chemical Papa?

DR. SMITH GIVES INTERESTING TALK

"We own nothing and the things we claim as ours are only loaned to us during our lifetime" was one of the statements of Dr. W. P. Smith of White Cross hospital, Thursday at the Rotary club.

"The human body is only loaned to us and the lease we have on the body lasts just as long as we take care of it," he continued.

Dr. Smith gave some interesting information about the construction of the body and the functions of the different parts.

He told of the symptoms of appendicitis and explained how nature gives warning so that it will not be neglected.

He closed his talk by saying, "We don't look the same in our older years as we did when young, these changes in our facial expressions being service stripes."

Soviet Russia demands patriotism, yet it deplores the use of the national color on feminine lips.

People have come to expect Chevrolet to lead the world in automobile sales. But this year Chevrolet has done even more than that. According to the latest available figures, Chevrolet alone has sold almost as many cars this year as all the rest of the low-price field combined!

When a car looms above its field like that, there can't be any argument about it. It must be an all-round better buy. And that's exactly what Chevrolet offers you. Fisher bodies, with the new ventilation system and the strongest and quietest body construction of the day—solid steel over a sturdy hardwood frame.* A valve-in-head six engine, unapproached for economy . . . Cushion-Balanced to blot out vibration . . . full of snap and vigor—altogether the most efficient engine in the low-price field.

Then there's Syncro-Mesh with Silent Second, the Starterator, Simplified Free Wheeling, the Octane Selector, long, parallel-mounted springs—more advancements than we have space to describe. And Chevrolet prices are as low as $445. Don't guess—buy from the leader. Get a car that has been proved sound and dependable by more owners than any other automobile you can buy.

State's Farmers Rally To Try Crop Experiment

COLUMBUS, Aug. 11.—Determined to give the government's big farm aid experiment at least a fair test, Ohio wheat growers are falling whole-heartedly into line on the wheat acreage reduction program designed to bring a higher, steadier price for the golden grain.

Enthusiastic acceptance of the plan by Ohio farmers was reported by leaders of the Ohio State University agriculture extension department, who are directing the allotment program in the state.

"Although we cannot sign up farmers in the state under the voluntary reduction plan until the percentage of reduction is decided by the government, the growers are very open-minded on the idea and are determined to give it a trial," D. S. Myer told International News Service.

Myer is handling details of spreading the allotment gospel throughout the state, under the direction of H. C. Ramsower, appointed by the government to head the program in the state.

ALL 88 AFFECTED

Every one of Ohio's 88 counties is affected, because wheat is the state's one universal crop. Assisting the state leaders here in the movement are the 72 county farm extension agents in the state, and 16 others named for counties where there are no extension agents.

A state-wide educational program is planned, Myer said, to acquaint all growers with details of the plan. Between August 14 and the middle of September meetings will be held in hundreds of communities throughout Ohio so that farmers may understand perfectly just what the program asks of them.

On Aug. 24, Secretary of Agriculture Henry Wallace at Washington will announce the exact percentage selected by the government for the cut in acreage. The reduction will be uniform throughout the nation, and will be somewhere between 10 and 26 per cent.

Here is how the allotment program will operate, Myer said:

Assuming that 20 per cent is the figure of reduction adopted, farmers who sign the agreement, which incidentally is purley voluntary, will contract with Uncle Sam to cut down the number of acres in wheat 20 per cent below acreage for the past three years.

Then on that yield the remaining 80 per cent of acreage, the government allotment will affect 54 per cent, the portion of the nation's average production that is used for human consumption.

On that part of their wheat affected by the allotment, if they sign the agreement, farmers will receive not only the regular market price but an additional sum—approximately 28 cents per bushel from the government.

No figures are available at present, but Myer estimated that far more than 50 per cent of the wheat growers in Ohio will accept the plan. This, he considers, is a very good indication because a large amount of the state's wheat crop is raised by the small grower, with perhaps only five or six acres for his own use, who will very likely not enter the allotment plan.

MRS. COSTELLO STARTS FIGHT

State Closes Its Case; Woman To Play Principal Role In Defense.

COURTHOUSE, SALEM, Mass., Aug. 11.—"The commonwealth rests, your honor."

With these words, District Attorney Hugh A. Cregg at 11:10 a. m. today brought to an end its battle to convict Mrs. Jessie B. Costello for the poison death of her husband.

The climax of the prosecution's case followed a lengthy conference at the bench with Judge Frederick W. Fosdick, and came after John J. Costello, Jr., the final witness, had declared that Andrew Fyfe, father of Mrs. Costello, had asked him to help take Jessie's three children from her because she was "not a fit women for them."

When District Attorney Cregg announced the end of the state's case, defense Counsel William G. Clark requested the morning recess be called, and it was granted.

The defense opens up the final battle to save Mrs. Costello from the electric chair. With Jessie herself playing the principal role.

LUER ABDUCTION BAND IS INDICTED

EDWARDSVILLE, Ill., Aug. 11.—Eight persons, two of them women, were under grand jury indictment today, charged with the kidnaping of August Luer, aged Alton, Ill., banker and packing company executive.

Indictments were returned against Walter Holland, ex-convict; Randall Eugene Norvell, professional bondsman of Nameoki, Ill., Charles Chessen and his wife Mrs. Lillian Chessen, both of East Alton, Ill.; Grace Chase, Percy M. Fitzgerald, Christ Gitcho, former Madison, Ill., grocer and Michael Musiale.

MARKET BASKET

THE PRICE OF BREAD

"Fifteen cents of every food dollar for bread and cereals, twenty-five to thirty cents for milk and cheese —" and so on, runs the family food guide, suggested by the Bureau of Home Economics of the U. S. Department of Agriculture, for the housewife who finds it hard to make ends meet. But now the price of bread has gone up, and other foods are going up, some faster than others. How does this state of things affect the carefully worker-out plans which were supposed to provide the most in food values for least money?

One part of the answer to that question, says the Bureau, is that bread, even when it costs more, is still one of the cheapest foods you can buy. And the reason you pay more for bread, of course, is partly that the farmer may have money enough from his wheat to buy more of the goods and services the rest of us have to sell, in order that we, in turn may have more jobs, more pay, and more money to spend for food and everything else. This has already begun to happen, the Government records show.

The justifiable rise in the price of a one-pound loaf of bread, according to the Consumers' Counsel of the Agricultural Adjustment Administration, is at present something less than 2 cents. Bread costs more than it did five months ago because flour costs more, and so do yeast, and lard, and salt, and other ingredients of bread. About 1 1-2 cents more per one-pound loaf is the additional cost of the materials used in bread.

To put it another way, the house wife who pays 8 cents for a pound loaf of bread is paying a little less then 3 cents for flour and other ingredients, 2 cents for labor, manufacturing expenses and overhead. The remaining 3 cents include the costs of advertising, selling, and delivering, plus profits to the baker and grocer.

But meantime, many a household is caught for a while with the same old needs and the same skimpy purse out of which to buy the foods the family must have and must now buy at higher prices. That leads back to the family food guide and the sample market list—for help of a kind, at least.

The sample market lists of the Bureau of Home Economics are made up by literally counting the calories and calculating the nutities of the right kinds of foods to make up an adequate supply of food for a week. They show how to get the most food value for your money—so far as can be shown considering the difference in markets and market prices in different localities—and they show how to make sure of at least the foods you need.

Bread or cereals, and milk, are the mainstays of a low-cost balanced diet and a balanced diet is more important than ever when a food supply is restricted. The nutritionist builds up such a diet by providing energy-yielding food to correspond with the energy the individual expends in his work or any other activities. Then the necessary amounts of different kinds of nutritive material are calculated —proteins, minerals, and vitamins. The cheapest kinds of common foods that will provide enough of these food substances, and enough calories, will constitute the most economical balanced diet. The nutritionist finds that bread or cereals and milk contain more of the essential nutritive values than any other two foods we have, and therefore builds upon that foundation.

Bread is an excellent bargain in calories—so good that it can, if necessary, be depended upon for a third of all the colories required in a balanced diet.

Bread is also counted upon for the porteins it contains, the phosphorus and, if whole wheat bread is used, for iron. The whole grain contains some vitamins, too. These items and the nutditive contents of milk, are all added into the total food requirements for an adequate, balanced diet. The difference between that total and the food values of bread and milk combined must then be supplied by other kinds of food —vegetables, meats, fats, and sugars.

FOUR TO ATTEND LEGION'S SESSION

Delegates of Howard Hall Post, American Legion, and its auxiliary, are preparing to attend the state convention to begin Sunday in Lima. William Betts, Jr. and Paul Betz are Legion delegates and Mrs. William Betts, Jr. and Mrs. Paul Betz are auxiliary delegates.

The first official act of the convention will be the annual parade and frolic of the 40 et 8 to take place at 8 p. m. Saturday. There will be some kind of activity through Tuesday.

Louis A. Johnson, of Charleston, W. Va., national commander, will be a convention guest with commanders of several states also to attend.

Shutting the Gates

UNCLE Sam's wide open gate, through which used to flow freely all the despondent populations of Europe! How proud we used to be of that wide open door, and of that big heart that could take in the poor and suffering of the world, and plant them amid prolific fields and gorgeous harvests, and give every son of despair a new home!

But when jobs became scarce in our land, and there were no fat farms to give away, the prosperiety of thus admitting the poor and oppressed of all nations was questioned. It was still more questioned when we learned that our beloved country was being looked at as a paradise for criminals. We had plenty enough graduates from our own prison cells, without taking in thousands more.

So we have had immigration restriction, until at least it is almost down to zero. Last year only about 35,000 entered, while 103, left us. The door is narrow and quite well guarded, as compared with that enormous gate through which nearly 7,000,000 entered during six of the years from 1905 to 1915.

But there are all the illegal entries how many, no one knows. A steady procession of stealthy sneaks worming their way in through our ports or over the borders, dropped by airplanes, smuggled in ships, a most unworthy accession, law breakers from the first day. That problem remains unsolved.

But the idea has at last penetrated the European mind, that gold can no longer be picked up in American streets. Nor can an immigrant start in with a pair of overalls and 25 cents, and in a couple of years become a merchant prince. No, the place for those poor folks is at home, where they can speak the language of the land, and will not be forever baffled by strange customs and slick sharpers.

States Warned

HARRY L. Hopkins, federal relief administrator, again has warned the states that unless they do their part the $500,000,000 appropriated by congress for relief purposes will not last thru the coming winter.

Already contributions out of this fund made to states have passed $100,000,000. "The $500,000,000 will be enough to see us through this winter if we can make the states do their share," he said. "If they don't, it won't be enough."

Half of the $500,000,000 total is being allotted states on the basis of one dollar for every three spent by the states for relief purposes in a three-months' period. The balance is distributed by the administrator according to the need and may be alloted as outright gifts.

How great will be the need of unemployment relief this winter can not be known now. Increasing employment, if it continues should lighten the loads on relief agencies. There can be little doubt, though, even under the most favorable prospects, that there will be need for considerable help.

It is important that preparations for meeting this be made now. The relief director in reminding states to do their part is taking proper steps. Exhaustion of the federal fund would cause a serious situation.

WHAT HAS HAPPENED SO FAR.

Joan Hastings, seventeen and beautiful, lives a secluded life with her two old maiden aunts in a house long run to seed. Aunt Evvie, discovering that Joan has visited a dance hall, angrily reveals to her the story of how her mother had won her father away from Aunt Babe. Joan, alone in her room, clasps to her heart a miniature of her mother and refuses to believe she was anything but good.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

CHAPTER 3

It was down there in the rose garden under the window that Veronica and Peter had met. Joan could see them, just as they must have looked. Veronica in a white ruffled organdie, all billowing skirts, and blue sash, with a floppy hat shading her fly-a-way hair. Peter, tall, dark-eyed Peter by her side. How they must have loved each other! Oh, what a wonderful thing it would be to have someone to love—to be loved, as Veronica was. It wouldn't matter what happened after that. It wouldn't matter if you died then, like Veronica and Peter . . .

"Miss Joan! Miss Jo-an!" Heeley's harsh voice cut into her thoughts like a knife.

"Yes?" Joan scrambled to her feet, and opened the door to the hall. "What do you want, Mrs. Heeley?"

"I want you to come set the table, that's what I want. A body can't do everythin' all alone in this house. My neuralgia throbbin' like—"

"All right—just a minute till I comb my hair—"

"Mind you hurry—my neuralgia.— Mumble—mumble—"

Joan hastily pulled the comb through her short, wavy hair which Aunt Evvie cut for her, at the great peril of her ears, every other Saturday night so that it would be neat for church on Sunday. For just a moment she lingered in front of the old maple dresser. She patted the bright, tawny waves. "I do look like her—a lot. Of course, she had long hair, but—"

"Jo-an!"

"I'm coming!"

"Try not to rattle the whole house when you come down. Try to walk like a lady, please!" Aunt Babe whined, as Joan ran down the steps into the library, where Aunt Evvie and Aunt Babe were sitting, waiting for dinner.

Setting the table was a rite. The heavy silence cloth, the shining damask cloth, the cut glass and silver all had to be laid as if for a banquet, even though there was to be nothing but codfish and tea.

The teaspoons looked dark. Joan placing them carefully on the table hoped that Aunt Evvie wouldn't notice. It was her work to clean the silver.

Oh, dear! Aunt Babe and Aunt Evvie were fighting again. The sound of their angry voices came clearly across the hall from the library. Aunt Evvie's bass, drowning out Babe's thin treble:

"So I bought the automobile on the spot."

"You what?" Aunt Babe shrilled.

"I said I bought the automobile. You aren't deaf, are you, Babe?" Evvie was shouting. "It's a very good automobile. I could tell as soon as I heard the engine."

"But an automobile—an automobile—what do we want with an—"

Joan, listening in the dining room, held her breath. What did Aunt Evvie want with an automobile, and where would she get the money? It was funny about Aunt Evvie—she was always saying there was no more money left—and then mysteriously buying a gold mine, or an oil well or something.

"What do I want an automobile for?" Aunt Evvie was trying to mimic Babe. "To go in the real estate business with. That's what for. Somebody has to do something around here. You don't do anything. I'm going to get some land farther up, and sub-divide. All kinds of money in it, Babe. In three months I'll be able to pay back—"

"You've gone and taken out another mortgage, Evvie. Oh Evvie, how could you? On our own home, that Papa left us—oh Evvie—we'll lose it—I know we will." Babe was weeping outright now.

"That's all you know. I tell you there's big money—"

Joan didn't wait to hear any more. Aunt Evvie had been raising money on the property and pretty soon it would be all gone. Then there would be another fight. "Anyway, I don't see how we can get much poorer," she thought, and went into the kitchen for the bread and butter.

When she came back to finish setting the table Aunt Evvie's voice was still rumbling along like a steam roller, drowning out Babe's tearful objections.

"So the boy from Gerwin's garage is going to come every Wednesday to clean and oil it, while we're at the Sewing Circle and won't need it. I could do it myself," Evvie was saying, "but after all we have a position to keep up, especially with me going into business."

Bill looked up and saw Joan silhouetted against the red curtains, a golden shining thing.

There was a noise outside. The sound of an auto horn. Aunt Evvie was at the front door in a couple of long manly strides.

"Drive it around here, boy. To the stable!" she shouted.

Joan pushed the red velour curtains aside.

A newly painted touring car, of impressive make, and ancient vintage. And at the wheel, bare-headed and grinning, his freckled face streaked with dirt, was Bill Martin who used to play football at school!

Joan's curiosity was getting the best of her. To think of Aunt Evvie owning an automobile, and Bill Martin—Bill Martin—bringing it home!

She had never spoken to Bill, he was considered rather tough because he lived down in the hollow, and worked on the docks in San Francisco in vacation time. Nobody knew him very well.

What in the world was Aunt Evvie crawling under the car for? Joan raised the window to get a better look.

The window squeaked as she raised it. The boy who had worked on the docks and was going to wash the car on Wednesdays looked up. He saw Joan, silhouetted against the red curtains, a golden, shining thing, drenched in the glory of the sunset. He hadn't had much time for girls. The high school ones were giggling children—the older ones, like Katie in the Waffle Kitchen and Dolores—well, he hadn't any time for them either. But this one—this one—

He had forgotten that he had ever seen her before. Forgotten the big woman inspecting the engine. Forgotten that the flaming glory that enveloped the girl was the gift of the sunset.

Joan drew back, her heart beating wildly. She had forgotten the elderly woman and the car, too. She only saw a boy looking up at her from the rose garden.

Afterwards, Joan thought she must have imagined it. It must have been the sun in her eyes that made him seem to look at her that way, and still . . . and still . . . he had looked up at her, standing there in the window, with a kind of wonder in his face, as if he were looking at a princess. A princess out of a book.

"He liked me right away," she thought. And when the girls in the schoolyard gathered in a tight, giggling little group about Hilda Sedgwick, who didn't like her any more, she didn't care—much. "I s'pose they're talking about me again. Making fun of my shoes or something. Well, I don't care—he never even saw them. He just—saw me!"

And the little fire that Bill's one admiring glance had kindled in her heart, warmed her. Sent tingling little shivers racing down her back.

The girls stopped speaking to her. Nobody had paid any attention to her since the day Hilda got mad at her. Hilda was the most popular girl in High School. All the good times centered around the Sedgwick's big hospitable house on the hill. So long as Hilda championed her she was one of them, or as much one of them as a shabby, old-fashioned little girl in shiny serge and cotton stockings can be one of a group of well dressed moderns.

Most of them really liked Joan—she was always bubbling over with fun and ideas, but as Dorothy Nailor said afterwards, "It's kind of a relief to be rid of her, 'cause you simply hate to be seen with a frump like that. It makes you feel kind of funny inside."

So Joan was dropped—ostracized, and occasionally sneered at, with the amazing callousness and cruelty that only the teens are capable of. At recess she stood all alone in her corner of the school-yard, like a maimed yellow chick, deserted by its fellows.

"We danced three dances—three! Oh, he's the most wonderful dancer. When you dance with him—I can't explain it—but it's wonderful. He's the most wonderful—"

"Uh-huh. Did I tell you what Bert said to me on the way home? Listen—I want to tell you what Bert said—listen—"

"Nile green—all ruffled, with the cunningest little puff sleeves, and the teeniest, tiniest little shirrings of—"

Joan tried not to listen to them, but they shouted so, trying to drown each other out, that she couldn't help it. They had such good times, such awfully good times, and she was so left out . . .

Good Teeth Point Way To Health

Doctor Urges Many Visits to Dentist, Daily Brushings

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.
United States senator from New York
Former Commissioner of Health, New York City

I AM OFTEN asked, "What is a good toothbrush?" The wise choice of a toothbrush is essential to the proper care of the teeth.

Brushes vary in size and shape. Some prefer a soft brush, but probably it is better to use one having stiff bristles. Choose a well made brush that is not too large. A cheap one quickly sheds its bristles, and those that don't fall out become soft.

Dr. Copeland

As I have talked with hem, most dentists advise the use of a medium - sized brush with fairly stiff bristles. See that the bristles are tufted and have spaces between them. For children, of course, a small-sized brush is recommended. The size of the toothbrush should be suited to the size of the mouth.

A very good plan, as I view it, is proposed by some of the dental profession; this is to employ two toothbrushes. One is used in the morning and the other in the evening. You will get the most out of the toothbrush if you follow this plan. But above all also, discard a toothbrush when the bristles begin to fall out and become matted.

Maintain Health

The value of good teeth in the maintenance of health cannot be overemphasized. Teeth that harbor germs are related to diseases in various parts of the body. Diseased teeth undermine the general health and lower the resistance of the body against infections. It has been repeatedly shown that infections of the nose, eye, sinuses, stomach and even the intestinal tract can be traced to infected teeth. Arthritis, neuritis, heart and kidney disease, are other afflictions of modern civilization traced to neglected and decayed teeth.

In addition to daily brushing of the teeth, regular visits to the dentist are imperative. Baby teeth should receive the same dental care that is advised for adults.

I cannot speak too strongly about the need of proper dental attention for children who are cutting their "six-year molars".

Not so long ago I told you about the importance of the diet in building strong and sturdy teeth. It was pointed out that milk, green leafy vegetables and fresh fruits contain important substances that prevent the decay of teeth. Foods that are rich in minerals preserve the strength of the teeth. Lime and phosphorus are minerals particularly needed in the diet.

Artistic Pride

By IRVIN S. COBB

DURING Lent the talented young woman who served as organist for the little Episcopal church in a small Virginia town worked hard on her preparation for the Easter musical program. In fact, she worked so hard that toward the end of the forty days she had a slight nervous breakdown. The choir was properly rehearsed for the great day but she had to go to bed.

In this emergency the rector sent up to Richmond for a substitute, who officiated in her stead. A few days later the regular performer being now almost recovered, met her faithful ally, the venerable colored sexton, on the street.

"Well, Uncle Henry," she said, when he had congratulated her upon getting well, "how did you like the visiting organist who took my place at Easter?"

"Well, Miss Nelly," said Uncle Henry, "I reckin he done the very best he knowed how. But I taken notice of a couple of pieces I wuz able to pump dat he wuzn't able to play."

MOVIES

AT THE CLIFTONA

English theatrical talent is emigrating to America these days.

Cary Grant and Benita Hume, both of whom came from England to America to display their theatrical talent here, agree on that fact. They explained why during the filming of "Gambling Ship," melo-drama in which they play the leading role. It opens today at the Cliftona Theatre.

Grant, the tall, dark-haired Briton who in one year came from obscure roles in Hollywood to the masculine lead opposite Sylvia Sidney, in "Madame Butterfly" and a co-featured role with Fredric March in "The Eagle and The Hawk," thinks it is because the theatre is reaching its ultimate through the talking screen. The talking screen, he goes on, has achieved its ultimate in America. Hence, the best talent naturally reaches America.

Miss Hume, English stage and screen star, made her first American movie appearance with Leslie Howard in "Reserved for Ladies," a British-made picture which was enthusiastically received here. Her most recent appearance in pictures was with Lionel Barrymore in "Looking Forward."

AT THE GRAND

Tim McCoy, whose latest Columbia picture, "The Whirlwind," comes to the Grand Theatre Friday, was born in Saginaw, Michigan, but settled on a ranch in Wyoming as a youth . . . . Owns a 10,000 acre ranch there now. One of two white men considered to be an authority on the Indian language . . . . Was a captain in the cavalry in the World War. Is the fastest man in the world in drawing a six-shooter and "fanning" it. Is affable and likeable off the screen.

The Open Market

An open market is one that is free to all as distinguished from one in which participation is restricted to members of an exchange. In Wall Street terms, the open market for securities rises everywhere outside the floor of the Stock Exchange. In other words, the open market refers to the public as a market.

Will Rogers Picks A Story For This Spot

By WILL ROGERS

THE young girls are getting so smart nowadays that the boys are scared of 'em. It's a fact. A lot of these modern girls just naturally wisecrack themselves out of a good prospect for a right good husband and home. They make out like they don't want any husband, you know. Of course, it's all right for a girl to play like she don't want any husband, just so's she don't do too good a job of acting about it. Well, and some of 'em, even after they have got their husband, they wisecrack him so that he has got to commit suicide or something.

One of these girls took her new husband into a restaurant, and while they were eating breakfast they quarreled a little, and she was just ready to hit her bridegroom, who wasn't very big, when the waiter come along.

This here waiter was wanting to earn his tip, so he says:

"Is your egg all right?"

"Oh yes," she says, "he's all right for a little while. I only married him for his money, anhow!"

path of the bellicose Dalrymple.

Impending Change

Banking boys don't seem to fit into the scheme of the NRA.

The inside dope is that big, bulky John M. Hancock, NRA Executive Secretary, and Edward B. Kapp, his small, thin assistant, are to be replaced. They will return to Lehman Brothers, New York private banking house, from which they were "borrowed."

The banking couple have not been a success in the NRA setup. Both are of unquestioned competence and integrity. But in a situation requiring a maximum of informality and co-operation, they have persisted in red-tape and aloofness. That doubtless is the approved practice in a counting house, but not in Washington these New Deal days.

Reds and Refrigerators

Major General Amos A. Fries, U. S. A. retired, is trying to scare people about the Bolshevist activities of the Roosevelt Administration. As a high officer of the Sons of the American Revolution and the Key Men of America, he has just perpetrated a 3,500 word letter warning them of the danger which faces the country.

Much of the wordage is devoted to the menace of having the innocuous ex-Senator from Iowa, Smith W. Brookhart, go to Russia to try to sell the Bolshevics farm products. But after seven pages of dire warning, General Fries appends some good horse sense. The letter concludes:

"P. S. If you have an electric refrigerator in your home and want to get maximum efficiency, defrost the coils every morning by turning off the current long enough for the ice to just melt the coils."

Arizona's Cotton

Arizona's cotton-growing industry owes its origin to the introduction of Egyptian cotton into this country more than 30 years ago by the United States Department of Agriculture. Department workers soon learned that this type of cotton was not adapted to the main cotton belt, and concentrated their efforts in the irrigated districts of Arizona and southern California, where conditions are similar to those in Egypt.

MR. STEVENSON TALKS AT GARDEN CLUB MEET

The Pickaway-co Garden club held its August meeting Thursday evening in the Monday club room at Memorial hall.

After a short business session the program was in charge of Harry G. Stevenson, who gave a most interesting talk on Ferns.

He had a variety of mounted specimens obtained in the hills of Jackson and Hocking counties. He explained their curious methods of propagation and gave entertaining bits of folk-lore concerning them.

In one of the gulches of Jackson-co, he found an abundance of reindeer moss, a plant from the far north, and a magnificent display of the southern magnolia, one of nature's rare meeting grounds for the two extremes.

Mrs. Mack Noggle asked that anyone having iris to contribute to Berger hospital grounds, please notify her or Mrs. Howard Jones by Friday, Aug. 18, as arrangements have been made to do the planting on that date.

SEWING CLUB HONORS RECENT BRIDE THURSDAY

Mrs. John Hoffman and daughter, Miss Helen, of Pickaway-twp, were hostesses, Thursday afternoon when they entertained members of Mrs. Hoffman's thimble club at their home. Members and a few guests honored Mrs. Richard Nickerson, a recent bride and daughter of Mrs. Stanley Glick, a member of the club, with a miscellaneous shower.

The pleasant afternoon hours were spent in sewing in rooms attractively decorated with beautifully arranged baskets of garden flowers. The honor guest received many lovely gifts.

Bringing the delightful party to a close the hostesses served a delicious collation.

Enjoying the affair were Mrs. William Anderson, Mary and Irma Anderson, Miss Florence Hoffman, Mrs. Elizabeth Dresbach, guests, Mrs. R. T. Liston and daughter, Miss Helen, Mrs. William Wefler and daughter, Miss Mary, Mrs. G. M. Newton, Miss Ida Hoffman, Mrs. J. H. Warner, Mrs. J. G. Heffner, Mrs. A. J. Dunkle, Mrs. Margaret Cullums, Mrs. Orville Beers, Mrs. B. F. Courtright, Mrs. Ralph Meinfelter and daughter, Frances and Katherine Ann, Mrs. Stanley Glick and Mrs. Nickerson.

The club will enjoy a picnic at the Niles' farm, Thursday, Aug. 24.

I've Often Wondered

By PAT J. KIRWIN

WHY the General Motors Corporation preferred to call their famous motor-car product, BUICK?

I've learned with much interest that this famous motor car takes its name from its creator—David BUICK—who was brought to America by his father, a sturdy Scotch carpenter, when he was little more than a babe in arms.

The other day, John B. Terns, an official of General Motors, told me the following story about David Buick:

"David Buick left the public schools of Detroit when he was twelve—apprenticed himself to the firm of Flower Brothers, brass foundry and finishers—and later, at 26, organized the firm of Buick and Sherwood. Here he invented and manufactured bathroom features until in 1901, when their business had grown to include two plants and 600 employees, the partners sold out to the Standard Sanitary Mfg. Co., and David Buick with $100,000 in cash returned to follow his earlier dream—the horseless carriage."

"He had been interested in automobiles as early as 1893. Had cleaned out a barn at the rear of his house, fitted up a machine shop and built a car, in 1896, which would do everything but run! But it wasn't until 1903, after he had spent all of his money in experimentation, that he hit upon the valve-in-head idea, which is still the basic principle of Buick cars today. And then David Buick applied to Flint capitalists for aid."

* * *

"The capitalists promised aid if Buick would make the run, 68 miles, from Detroit to Flint. Dave Buick determined that he would do it. Bright and early one September day of 1903 he and a cousin cranked up, stepped in and put-putted down the dirt street from the shop in an ex-overall factory at Howard and 12th-sts, Detroit, toward the promised land of Flint. He simply had to make it. He had squandered all he had in his invention. About all he had left was his faith in his funny sputtering little machine as he had spent all his money and was still $5,000 in debt."

"Anyway, with high hopes and a light heart, Dave Buick started gaily off to Flint. For the first ten miles he didn't have any trouble at all worth speaking about. Here he was, rattling along in fine shape—when suddenly, just as he had almost reached Pontiac, he hit a rut and something bad happened. He got out and got under—as the now forgotten old motor song used to have it. He found his rear axle had cracked. And there he was less than half-way to Flint. He had a drayman haul his car back to Detroit. He and his son 'whittled' out a new axle. He was going to try again."

* * *

"The second time he swore a little and prayed a little—and made it by supper time. It was a classic run—a historical event. David Buick died in March, 1929, at the age of 74—but his creation—the Buick car, and his name, still live on."

British Malaya's Products

The most important agricultural commodity of British Malaya is rubber; but coconuts are also extensively grown, and so also are spices, tobacco and pepper. Rice is also cultivated largely, but as it is the staple diet of the inhabitants, great quantities have also to be imported. Within recent years coffee, tea and tobacco have been given some attention, and may yet prove to be remunerative.

Insects Do Circus Stunts

Fleas are not the only insects trained to do stunts, although they are the easiest to handle. Bees and beetles have been harnessed to pull loads, grasshoppers have been matched in steeplechase races, where they have tiny fences to hurdle.

Ambassador Cintas on Hot Spot Between Machado and Welles

WASHINGTON — Oscar Cintas, bull-voiced Ambassador of Cuba, is sitting on the diplomatic hot-spot these days.

There is nothing he would like more than to see the dictator of Cuba, Gerardo Machado, ousted from the presidency. And yet there is nothing he would like less than to see Ambassador Sumner Welles get credit for the ousting.

The reason is: He doesn't like Machado and he doesn't like Welles.

To a friend he recently said: "I would give a handsome present to anyone who could get Machado out of office."

What he meant was anyone except Sumner Welles. At one time he and the American Ambassador were great pals. They exchanged formal dinners and many compliments just befor[illegible] assumed his new post.

But about a month ago Cintas went to Cuba. And during that trip he went to [illegible] on Welles. The American Ambassador was harassed, received Cintas rather briefly, did not adopt all his suggestions.

The Cuban Ambassador left offended, returned to Washington to spread the word that Welles was a bungler.

Democratic Ladies

A big blow-up is shaping behind the scenes among female Democrats. The rank and file ladies are up in arms over the juicy patronage plums being dropped to the so-called "national leaders" of their sex.

There is no protest over the naming of Miss Frances Perkins to the Labor portfolio. Her preeminence is recognized; also the right of the President to make his own cabinet selections.

But over the appointment of Ruth Bryan Owen, as Minister to Denmark; Mrs. Nellie Tayloe Ross to the sinecure berth of Director of the Mint; and Mrs. Blair Bannister, to the even softer job of Assistant U. S. Treasurer, there are bellicose mutterings.

The irate ladies utterly fail to see why such lucrative recognition should be given this trio. And they are pointedly informing Patronage Dispenser Jim Farley that whereas the others got all the glory of the 1932 campaign, it was the rank and file ladies who garnered the votes.

They want something done about it—pronto. As one indignant mid-western Committeewoman wrote Farley: "We are getting sick and tired of waiting."

Alcohol Investigation

The Department of Justice has launched a secret investigation of some of the biggest industrial alcohol companies in the country. If the investigation is pushed to the limit the country's chief source of bootleg alky and gin may come under the spotlight of publicity.

Justice officials are also inquisitive about the brewery permits given to racketeering gangs. This was one of the reasons for the demise of A. V. Dalrymple as Director of Prohibition. He signed permits for Al Capone's brewery in Ohio and Max Hassel's in north Jersey. When the latter was murdered shortly thereafter, a lot of embarrassing questions were asked.

But Dalrymple was a green man, might not have recognized these gangsters. However, Dr. James W. Doran, Commissioner of Industrial Alcohol, was not. And some higher-ups are now wondering why Doran let the permits pass.

The result is that Doran, a Republican, but kept in office so far through Joseph Tumulty, secretary of Woodrow Wilson, may follow the

Accused Banker

Z. D. Bonner, until last week president of the Commercial National Bank, of San Antonio, Texas, who has been charged in five complaints with receiving stolen property in connection with the alleged sale of $500,000 worth of U. S. bonds to the bank. Five others face similar charges.

Clerk of Courts Becomes District Attorney for Homeowners Loan Corporation at Salary of $3,600; Commissioners Have Power to Appoint Successor After Getting Resignation Next Monday

Pickaway-co's commissioners were being beleaguered by applicants for the clerk of courts appointment today following announcement that Ferd M. Pickens, serving his second term, will resign to become district attorney for the Columbus branch of the Federal Homeowners' Loan Corporation.

Mr. Pickens will present his formal resignation at next Monday's meeting of the commissioners.

His appointment was officially announced Friday by Thomas E. Dye, manager of the Columbus branch of the corporation in the following statement:

"It is with extreme gratification that I am able to advise you of your appointment to the position of attorney for the Columbus branch of the Home Loan corporation.

"You will kindly report at your earliest convenience.

"In selecting you for this department I do it conscious of the fact that you have been a valued servant for your constituency, and that it will be necessary for you to resign your position as clerk of the courts, but I feel they will be willing to make the sacrifice in view of the fact that you will become a valuable contribution to the great reconstruction program of President Roosevelt.

"I sincerely trust you will accept this appointment.

THOMAS E. DYE,
Manager, Columbus Branch
Homeowners Loan Corp."

RECEIVES $3,600

Pickens, who was in Columbus Friday getting his job 'organized,' will receive $3,600 a year. He will be located in the Home Loan office at the southeast corner of Spring and High-sts, Columbus.

Thirty-one counties are in the district over which Pickens will have legal supervision. They include Clark, Madison, Logan, Champaign, Union, Greene, Fayette, Ross, Pickaway, Richland, Ashland, Knox, Fairfield, Perry, Hocking, Gallia, Jackson, Athens, Vinton, Meigs, Muskingum, Washington, Morgan, Monroe, Licking, Guernsey, Noble, Coshocton, Delaware, Lawrence and Franklin.

Sub-offices will be set up in the various counties with one office to supervise two or three counties. Pickaway and Ross counties are merged with Dan Harness, of Chillicothe, being appointed manager with offices in Chillicothe. An appraiser and an attorney are yet to be appointed for each county. These appointments will probably be known within a few days.

Mr. Pickens in a statement, Friday, said:

"I was hesitant to accept the appointment because I had a year to serve as clerk of courts. I considered the position from every angle and decided to accept when I was certain another Democrat would be named to the office. My appointment to this position means that two jobs in Pickaway-co will be opened for deserving Democrats. (Mrs. Pickens will also resign as deputy clerk as soon as a successor to Mr. Pickens has been named).

"I regret that my business will keep me in Columbus all the time but I intend to maintain my residence in Circleville.

"I will present my resignation to the commissioners next Monday."

ON SECOND TERM

Mr. Pickens became clerk of courts Aug. 5, 1929. He is now serving his second term having been granted an extension on his first term by act of legislature. Mrs. Pickens has been his deputy since he took office.

Two of the three county commissioners disclosed Friday that more than 20 persons have been to see them since Thursday afternoon when it was learned Mr. Pickens would receive the office. The other commissioner could not be reached but it is supposed he has received his share of applicants.

The commissioners have power to name a clerk of courts within 10 days after the resignation of the present clerk. After that the auditor of the county has appointment power. It is believed the only power the Democratic committee has is to recommend appointment. With the board comprised entirely of Democrats it is safe to believe a Democrat will be selected.

KIRWIN GETS JOB

Announcement was made Friday that Joseph Kirwin, son of Mr. and Mrs. John M. Kirwin, S. Court-st, has obtained a position in the Home Loan office. He was called to Columbus Thursday afternoon by Mr. Pickens. Kirwin who has had considerable experience in clerical work has not yet been assigned a definite duty.

REPORT ROOSEVELT DEMANDS CUBAN PEACE, OR U. S. ACTION

HAVANA, Aug. 11.—The "passive revolution" against President Gerardo Machado, which has paralyzed Cuba for a week, neared a climax today with the island's population expecting early intervention by the United States.

In the face of many startling rumors, Machado's position appeared strengthened by a break in the general strike.

Leaders of the street railway and bus workers ordered their followers back to work at noon, and the outcome of the whole general strike was believed to depend on how many workers would obey their leaders and return to their jobs.

Added to this, a reliable source in Police headquarters stated the government plans to force transfer of food-stuffs from closed wholesale houses to stores, all of which are keeping their side doors open, although they lack merchandise with the exception of high priced liquors.

This action, if carried out, may aid in combatting the food shortage and widespread hunger in Havana and elsewhere.

There were persistent reports President Roosevelt had served an ultimatum on Machado to resign today under threat of American intervention, and there were many variations of these reports. Some of the rumors asserted Machado had to restore order today or the United States would land marines on Cuban shores.

All these reports were denied at the American embassy. Spokesmen there declared Ambassador Sumner Welles was continuing his mediation efforts to effect a peaceful settlement of Cuba's turbulent political affairs.

DOWDY ACTIVE IN CROP WORK

Wheat Adjuster To Announce Committee Next Week; Meetings Planned.

Guy Dowdy, Pickaway-co's wheat adjustment administrator, is rapidly completing his plans and is drawing up a program to acquaint the farmers with the provisions of the Agricultural Adjustment Act, he said Friday.

A county-wide committee has been named but has not been confirmed, although he expects to announce its personnel Monday, Mr. Dowdy announced.

A series of meetings will be held in each township in the county at which perplexing questions will be answered and a thorough explanation of the act will be given. The time and place of the meetings will be disclosed next week.

Mr. Dowdy said Friday that the first step a farmer must take to participate in the provisions of the act is to determine the number of acres seeded to wheat in 1929, 1930 and 1931, and then get the number of bushels of wheat harvested in 1930, 1931, and 1932. These facts must be known before an application is signed, Mr. Dowdy said.

3 ARE KILLED

NEWARK, Aug. 11.—Hurled under the wheels of a moving freight train, three persons were dead today and two others were under treatment for serious injuries at City Hospital here.

The dead are: Harold Galloway, 18; John Galloway, 19, his brother, and Imogene Galloway, 14, their sister.

The injured were Mrs. Chloe Galloway, 45, mother of the victims, and another child, Harvey Galloway, 5.

All of the victims were from Summit Station in Licking-co.

Urschel Freedom Cost $199,620

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla., Aug. 11.—Relatives of Charles F Urschel paid a staggering ransom of $199,620 for the multi-millionaire oil operator's release, serial numbers on the bills broadcast to banks today revealed.

Authorities admitted that the ransom payment was the largest ever made.

Serial numbers of 2,981 $20 bills were sent to banks throughout the country. All of the bills were drawn from the federal reserve bank in Kansas City. The ransom was said to have been paid to Urschel's kidnapers in a Kansas City hotel.

NEW UPSIDE DOWN PLANE MARK SET

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 11.—Milo Burcham, Long Beach, Cal., aviator today held a new world's record for upside down flight.

With his head pointed earthward and his plane's landing gear skyward Burcham flew here from San Diego in one hour, 46 minutes, 59 seconds.

The previous record was held by Lieut. Tito Falconi, of Italy, now in Los Angles, who flew upside down at Torento, Italy, for one hour and seven minutes.

Planes Prepared To Carry Eagles Over East, South

Fleet of 30 Awaiting Orders From Farley; To Visit Many Cities.

NEW YORK, Aug. 11.—Thirty army planes, including a fleet of large Martin bombers, were on the runaways of Floyd Bennett field today awaiting the signal from Postmaster General James A. Farley which will send them carrying nine tons of NRA blue eagle posters to 12 cities in the east and the south.

Officials said, however, that threatening weather may delay the start of the aerial propaganda drive.

Accompanying the planes in their parade over New York will be an autogyro and a blimp each with a 120 foot streamer behind it with the message, "NRA. We Do Our Part."

The cities to which the planes will fly are Boston, Albany, Philadelphia, Baltimore, Pittsburgh, Buffalo, Jacksonville, Atlanta, Columbia, S. C., Richard, Harrisburg and Washington.

MINING FIGHT NEARS CRISIS

Perpetuation of Company Union Demanded; Deadlock Now Exists.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 11.—Efforts of the National Recovery Administration to bring the nation's great basic industries under permanent industrial codes approached a crisis today as coal barons of the Appalachian and northern fields demands prepetuation of the company union.

A deadlock prevailed between the powerful Appalachian and northern group, dominated by Morgan and Mellon influences, and the unionized operators of states farther west.

With a terrific fight raging over bituminous coal, and hearing on the 25 codes submitted by this industry under way, efforts were made to hasten final adoption of the steel and oil codes. Both are being redrafted following extensive hearings.

J. P. Morgan and company is a dominant influence in the steel industry, which has operated for years on an open shop basis.

Demanding a 30-hour week and a basic wage scale of $5 per day, together with a single national code for the bituminous fields, John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine workers of America, declared the Appalachian and northern districts will be unionized despite all opposition.

Court News

83,566 SIGNED NRA PLEDGES

5,400 Jobs Created Per Day Since August 1, State Office Says

NEW BOOST SEEN

Steel Plants Dispense Huge Payrolls

CLEVELAND, Aug. 11.—The first official compilation of data on results of the NRA drive in Ohio today disclosed that the recovery program was creating jobs at the rate of 5,400 a day in the state.

Miss Mary E. Wood, Ohio NRA director, declared that there had been a gain of 10.45 per cent in employment since Aug. 1.

According to Miss Woods, all figures indicate the NRA campaign has doubled the rate at which employment picked up during the months of April, May, June and July.

Miss Woods also stated that there had been a tremendous increase in purchasing power as concerns throughout the state raised wages to conform with the blanket code.

83,566 ARE SIGNED

To date, she said, 83,566 employers in the state signed pledges to support the government program.

She predicted that the employment gain would be almost doubled by Sept. 1, as employers complete necessary adjustments in working hours and wages.

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Aug. 11.—The distribution of the largest semi-monthly payroll for steel workers in three years was underway today. It was estimated that approximately 50,000 workers would receive between $2,500,000 and $3,000,000.

One bank which honored the payroll checks reported that the average check was $48.37 as compared with $35.59 for the previous two-week period.

5 YOUNG MINERS GET LIFE TERMS

Murder of Girl By Gunfire While Sitting In House Brings Penalty.

JONESBORO, Ill., Aug. 11. — Life imprisonment was the penalty assessed today on four of the five young Du Quoin coal miners found guilty last night of the murder of Laverne Miller, 14-year-old high school girl.

The fifth defendant, Emery Albers was sentenced to 40 years in the penitentiary. The four given life terms were Sam Ferro, Barney Bosette, Otis Battaglia and Robert Shingleton. A jury found the five guilty after several hours of deliberation.

Gunmen fatally wounded the girl on April 6 when they poured a fusillade of bullets into the Miller home while the controversy between rival nine unions was at fever pitch.

HI-JACKERS STEAL 84 POULTRY CRATES

NAPOLEON, Aug. 11— Under the cover of the early morning darkness a gang of hi-jackers today held up a poultry truck near here and escaped with 84 crates of poultry.

Using "stage-coach bandit" tactics, the hi-jackers forced the poultry truck into a ditch and overpowered Philip Salvia, 23, and Luther Reiser, 26. Both Reiser and Salvia were blindfolded and tied after which the hi-jackers disposed of the poultry loot.

Later, Reiser and Salvia were hauled to a point near Grand Rapids O., where they were released and their truck restored.

Reiser and Salvia said they had no clue as to the identity of the hi-jackers.

CHINATOWN SEEKS LAUNDERER'S CODE

WASHINGTON, Aug. 11.—The NRA drive has reached San Francisco's famous Chinatown.

The recovery administration received a telegram saying laundry owners in Chinatown wanted to frame a code.

Officials, however, said that Chinatown's laundries must be treated on the same basis as all others.

In Recovery Post

Mary E. Hughes, of Louisville, Ky., new head of the women's division of the National Recovery Administration, is shown at her desk in the Commerce Department as she assumed her new duties. She's entrusted with the task of getting the nation's womanhood into line to aid recovery.

FARIS NAMES JOHN G. WARD

Local Man Begins Duties With Beer Commission; To Get Territory.

John G. "Doggy" Ward, Thursday, began working with the Ohio beer commission as an inspector following his appointment by L. L. Faris, in charge of the department.

Ward has not yet been assigned a definite territory but expects it within a few days.

He had been connected with the state prohibition department until two weeks ago when a reduction in that force caused a number of agents to lose their jobs. He was the only man transferred from the prohibition department to the beer commission.

Milton Cox, former Pickaway-co school superintendent, lost his job in the prohibition department at the same time Ward's position was abolished.

Police Court

REYNOLDS HELD

Robert Reynolds, of Yellowbud, father of eight children, was bound over to the grand jury under $500 bond by Mayor B. T. Hedges Thursday after he pleaded guilty to a charge of forgery.

Reynolds was arrested by Police Chief W. H. Warner and allegedly signed the name 'J. H. Shasteen' to a check for $4.65 which he presented to James Wickensimer, this city.

He was released from the city jail a week ago after he promised to stay out of Circleville following his arrest for intoxication.

TWO RELEASED

Robert Walters, of Derby, who has been in the county jail to serve out a fine for intoxication, and Fred Vincent, who has been held on a non-support charge, were released from the county jail Friday. Vincent gave bond.

GUSSMAN TO APPEAR

Rowe Gussman, Mingo-st, is to appear before Mayor B. T. Hedges at 7 p. m. Friday to answer to a charge of intoxication and conducting himself in a disorderly manner.

The affidavit was signed by Miss Pauline M. Hall, Logan-st.

DAWSON HELD

Richard Dawson, E. Mill-st, is being held in city jail, following his arrest at 5 p. m. Thursday by Officer William McCrady on a charge of assault and battery.

Mrs. Jane Dawson, his wife, filed the complaint. He will be given a hearing before Mayor B. T. Hedges sometime Friday.

COXEY FOR SENATE

MASSILLON, Aug. 11. — "General" Jacob Coxey, defeated Tuesday when he sought renomination as mayor, today denied he would retire from public life by announcing that he would be a candidate for U. S. senator from Ohio in 1934.

Although 79 years of age, Coxey, who held the famous march of the jobless to Washington in 1894, said "I'm just beginning."

LYLE'S CHOICE SANCTIONED BY ALL MEMBERS

$2,350 to Be Paid Fosdick and Hilmer, Cincinnati Engineers

TO START SOON

First Choice of Service Chief Withdrawn

City council next Wednesday evening at its regular meeting will approve appointment of Fosdick and Hilmer, Cincinnati engineers, to conduct a survey of the city's electrical and water [illegible]. The report of the engineers will be used by council in an effort to obtain lower rates from both utility companies with possible municipal ownership of the utilities contemplated.

The appointment was unanimously approved, Thursday evening, when all members of council met in a committee session in the council chamber. Clyde O. Lyle, First ward councilman and chairman of the service committee, presided.

TO RECEIVE $2,350

The salary to be paid Fosdick and Hilmer for the survey is $2,350, council having appropriated $2,500 for the purpose.

Recommendation of the firm was made by Service Director J. Lyle who has received plans applications for the contract. At the last council meeting, August 2, Mr. Lyle recommended appointment of Kinney, Inc., of Cincinnati, but a snag was struck in committee meeting.

In order to obtain a unanimous opinion from council, Mr. [illegible] withdrew the appointment Thursday evening recommending that council hire Fosdick and Hilmer, although Kinney, Inc., offered to do the work at a lower price. Councilmen were of the opinion the work would be better done at the contract price asked by Fosdick and Hilmer.

BEGIN AT ONCE

The contract cannot be officially entered into until the next council meeting when the successful firm, which will have been notified by that time, is expected to be present. Work will probably start immediately after the contract has been consummated.

Council will use figures provided by the survey to determine whether or not rates paid to electric and water utilities are too high. The engineering firm will compare fair rates for both utilities.

Council voted, 4 to 3, to employ an engineer after the Circleville Citizens League urged such a step be taken in an effort to obtain reduced rates.

3 ADMIT ROBBING YOUTHFUL HIKERS

To Face Charges In Cambridge; Hoyt Tharp Robbery Is Confessed.

Charged with preying on young hitch-hikers and taking their clothing and money, three men were being held in the Guernsey-co jail at Cambridge today. They have allegedly admitted taking the clothing and money of Hoyt Tharp, Williamsport young man, Tuesday near Chillicothe.

All three, Donald Mowery, 19, of Lima; James Gallagher, 25, of Harrison, N. J., and Merl B. Richard, 27, of Fort Wayne, Ind., have been identified by a Wheeling, W. Va., youth as the men who took his clothes and money and tied him to a tree.

The same thing was done with Tharp.

The will face charges in Cambridge after taking the clothing and money of Fred Eckart, 25, of Boston, and Charles Medley, 22, of Rockyville, Fla., near that city. Both victims have identified the band. It is claimed the arrested men have been perpetrating such crimes over a three-state radius.

ROTARY DISTRICT TO MEET MONDAY

The Panthers outhit the Oils ... were unable to connect ... apple at the crucial moment. The Oils scored their first run in the second inning when two were out and Parks hit a single. Merriman and Purcell followed with clean hits and Parks scored the first marker. The second run of the game was scored by the Panthers in the fifth by Don Johnson who hit safely and then came in on Bob Jones' drive.

Bob Peters scored the Oils' second run in the sixth after Jones had struck out two men. Merriman drove in Peters. The Oils won the game in the ninth when they pounded in two more runs to give them a lead which the Panthers couldn't overcome.

RALLY NIPPED

Charlie Davis started the ninth inning rally when he got a nice hit in center field. P. Thomas followed with another safety and Don Johnson popped up. Charlie Davis was put out at second but his brother Ike came to bat and hit a single over center field. Jay Henry hit a double and Ike Davis tried to make it home but was put out, retiring sides and ending the contest.

The pitchers, "Curly" Wallace for the Oils and Bob Jones for the Panthers hurled nice ball, the former striking out two men and the latter fanning five. Purcell and Heeter for the Oils and Henry and Jones for the Panthers, all with three hits each, were heavy clouters for their teams.

Tonight the Aces and Sinclair Oils will meet, the game called at 6:15 sharp.

"NICK CULLOP'S" NIGHT IS SUCCESS

Slugger Receives Numerous Gifts As Dean Hurls 7 to 2 Victory.

COLUMBUS, Aug. 11.—The last game in their series of four was scheduled here today between the association leading Columbus Red Birds and the Minneapolis Miller, circuit champions who lost their third straight to the Birds by a score of 7 to 2 last night.

The victory was the 17th of the season for Paul Dean, younger brother of Dizzy Dean of the St. Louis Cards. The young hurler allowed eight hits and fanned 14 batters, four short of the all-time association record.

The game and an accompanying program of fireworks and athletic stunts were features of "Nick Cullop Night," dedicated to the hard-hitting Red Bird outfielder.

CHAMPION READY

SARATOGA, N. Y., Aug. 11.—Fully recovered from a bruised heel, Equipoise, America's handicap champion, will race in the $25,000 Hawthorne gold cup at Chicago on August 24, trainer Thomas Healey announced today.

PARMELEE HELPS GIANT CAMPAIGN

NEW YORK, Aug. 11.—One of the primary reasons the New York Giants are setting the pace in the National league race this year is the amazing improvement of Roy (Tarzan) Parmelee, the man who walks with a warble and pitches like a Waddell.

In his few appearances on the mound last season, the erstwhile wild man was of no more use than a blotter at the Johnstown flood, pitching no complete games and failing to win a single contest. This year he has won ten games against five defeats, has twice narrowly missed turning in a no-hit classic and is one of the outstanding luminaries of New York's all-star mound staff.

The "man who walks like a yak" particularly dotes on the hard-hitting Phillies. He held them to one hit on April 26 and hurled hitless ball against them for seven innings yesterday. The Quakers got two safe hits before the last towel was lifted but Parmelee had no difficulty in hanging up a 4 to 0 shutout, his third whitewash of the season and the eighteenth of the year for the New York pitching staff.

The victory put the Giants 3 1-2 games in front of the idle Pirates.

M'CARTHY SCORES PLAYERS' MORALE

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 11.—The New York Yankees today were smarting under a severe tongue-lashing administered by their irate manager, Joe McCarthy.

Not sparing a single member of the squad, "Marse Joe" delivered a sweeping denunciation of the fading champions, who have been in a prolonged slump. Every one player, who has been a chronic bench warmer was hauled over the coals for his "lack of interest in the affairs of the club.

McCarthy intimated he is thinking of tearing down the club and rebuilding for next year unless the morale and play of the team shows immediate improvement.

DR. SMITH GIVES INTERESTING TALK

"We own nothing and the things we claim as ours are only loaned to us during our lifetime" was one of the statements of Dr. W. P. Smith of White Cross hospital, Thursday at the Rotary club.

"The human body is only loaned to us and the lease we have on the body lasts just as long as we take care of it," he continued.

Dr. Smith gave some interesting information about the construction of the body and the functions of the different parts.

He told of the symptoms of appendicitis and explained how nature gives warning so that it will not be neglected.

He closed his talk by saying, "We don't look the same in our older years as we did when young, these changes in our facial expressions being service stripes."

Soviet Russia demands patriotism, yet it deplores the use of the national color on feminine lips.

People have come to expect Chevrolet to lead the world in automobile sales. But this year Chevrolet has done even more than that. According to the latest available figures, Chevrolet alone has sold almost as many cars this year as all the rest of the low-price field combined!

When a car looms above its field like that, there can't be any argument about it. It must be an all-round better buy. And that's exactly what Chevrolet offers you. Fisher bodies, with the new ventilation system and the strongest and quietest body construction of the day—solid steel over a sturdy hardwood frame.* A valve-in-head six engine, unapproached for economy . . . Cushion-Balanced to blot out vibration . . . full of snap and vigor—altogether the most efficient engine in the low-price field.

Then there's Syncro-Mesh with Silent Second, the Starterator, Simplified Free Wheeling, the Octane Selector, long, parallel-mounted springs—more advancements than we have space to describe. And Chevrolet prices are as low as $445. Don't guess—buy from the leader. Get a car that has been proved sound and dependable by more owners than any other automobile you can buy.

State's Farmers Rally To Try Crop Experiment

COLUMBUS, Aug. 11.—Determined to give the government's big farm aid experiment at least a fair test, Ohio wheat growers are falling whole-heartedly into line on the wheat acreage reduction program designed to bring a higher, steadier price for the golden grain.

Enthusiastic acceptance of the plan by Ohio farmers was reported by leaders of the Ohio State University agriculture extension department, who are directing the allotment program in the state.

"Although we cannot sign up farmers in the state under the voluntary reduction plan until the percentage of reduction is decided by the government, the growers are very open-minded on the idea and are determined to give it a trial," D. S. Myer told International News Service.

Myer is handling details of spreading the allotment gospel throughout the state, under the direction of H. C. Ramsower, appointed by the government to head the program in the state.

ALL 88 AFFECTED

Every one of Ohio's 88 counties is affected, because wheat is the state's one universal crop. Assisting the state leaders here in the movement are the 72 county farm extension agents in the state, and 16 others named for counties where there are no extension agents.

A state-wide educational program is planned, Myer said, to acquaint all growers with details of the plan. Between August 14 and the middle of September meetings will be held in hundreds of communities throughout Ohio so that farmers may understand perfectly just what the program asks of them.

On Aug. 24, Secretary of Agriculture Henry Wallace at Washington will announce the exact percentage selected by the government for the cut in acreage. The reduction will be uniform throughout the nation, and will be somewhere between 10 and 20 per cent.

Here is how the allotment program will operate, Myer said:

Assuming that 20 per cent is the figure of reduction adopted, farmers who sign the agreement, which incidentally is purley voluntary, will contract with Uncle Sam to cut down the number of acres in wheat 20 per cent below acreage for the past three years.

Then on that yield the remaining 80 per cent of acreage, the government allotment will affect 54 per cent, the portion of the nation's average production that is used for human consumption.

On that part of their wheat affected by the allotment, if they sign the agreement, farmers will receive not only the regular market price but an additional sum—approximately 28 cents per bushel from the government.

No figures are available at present, but Myer estimated that far more than 50 per cent of the wheat growers in Ohio will accept the plan. This, he considers, is a very good indication because a large amount of the state's wheat crop is raised by the small grower, with perhaps only five or six acres for his own use, who will very likely not enter the allotment plan.

MRS. COSTELLO STARTS FIGHT

State Closes Its Case; Woman To Play Principal Role In Defense.

COURTHOUSE, SALEM, Mass., Aug. 11.—"The commonwealth rests, your honor."

With these words, District Attorney Hugh A. Cregg at 11:10 a. m. today brought to an end its battle to convict Mrs. Jessie B. Costello for the poison death of her husband.

The climax of the prosecution's case followed a lengthy conference at the bench with Judge Frederick W. Fosdick, and came after John J. Costello Jr., the final witness, had declared that Andrew Fyfe, father of Mrs. Costello, had asked him to help take Jessie's three children from her because she was "not a fit women for them."

When District Attorney Cregg announced the end of the state's case, defense Counsel William C. Clark requested the morning recess be called, and it was granted.

The defense opens up the final battle to save Mrs. Costello from the electric chair. With Jessie herself playing the principal role.

MARKET BASKET

THE PRICE OF BREAD

"Fifteen cents of every food dollar for bread and cereals, twenty-five to thirty cents for milk and cheese —" and so on, runs the family food guide, suggested by the Bureau of Home Economics of the U. S. Department of Agriculture, for the housewife who finds it hard to make ends meet. But now the price of bread has gone up, and other foods are going up, some faster than others. How does this state of things affect the carefully worker-out plans which were supposed to provide the most in food values for least money?

One part of the answer to that question, says the Bureau, is that bread, even when it costs more, is still one of the cheapest foods you can buy. And the reason you pay more for bread, of course, is partly that the farmer may have money enough from his wheat to buy more of the goods and services the rest of us have to sell, in order that we, in turn may have more jobs, more pay, and more money to spend for food and everything else. This has already begun to happen, the Government records show.

The justifiable rise in the price of a one-pound loaf of bread, according to the Consumers' Counsel of the Agricultural Adjustment Administration, is at present something less than 2 cents. Bread costs more than it did five months ago because flour costs more, and so do yeast, and lard, and salt, and other ingredients of bread. About 1 1-2 cents more per one-pound loaf is the additional cost of the materials used in bread.

To put it another way, the house wife who pays 8 cents for a pound loaf of bread is paying a little less then 3 cents for flour and other ingredients, 2 cents for labor, manufacturing expenses and overhead. The remaining 3 cents include the costs of advertising, selling, and delivering, plus profits to the baker and grocer.

But meantime, many a household is caught for a while with the same old needs and the same skimpy purse out of which to buy the foods the family must have and must now buy at higher prices. That leads back to the family food guide and the sample market list—for help of a kind, at least.

The sample market lists of the Bureau of Home Economics are made up by literally counting the calories and calculating the nutities of the right kinds of foods to make up an adequate supply of food for a week. They show how to get the most food value for your money—so far as can be shown considering the difference in markets and market prices in different localities—and they show how to make sure of at least the foods you need.

Bread or cereals, and milk, are the mainstays of a low-cost balanced diet and a balanced diet is more important than ever when a food supply is restricted. The nutritionist builds up such a diet by providing energy-yielding food to correspond with the energy the individual expends in his work or any other activities. Then the necessary amounts of different kinds of nutritive material are calculated —proteins, minerals, and vitamins. The cheapest kinds of common foods that will provide enough of these food substances, and enough calories, will constitute the most economical balanced diet. The nutritionist finds that bread or cereals and milk contain more of the essential nutritive values than any other two foods we have, and therefore builds upon that foundation.

Bread is an excellent bargain in calories—so good that it can, if necessary, be depended upon for a third of all the colories required in a balanced diet.

Bread is also counted upon for the porteins it contains, the phosphorus and, if whole wheat bread is used, for iron. The whole grain contains some vitamins, too. These items and the nutditive contents of milk, are all added into the total food requirements for an adequate, balanced diet. The difference between that total and the food values of bread and milk combined must then be supplied by other kinds of food —vegetables, meats, fats, and sugars.

FOUR TO ATTEND LEGION'S SESSION

Delegates of Howard Hall Post, American Legion, and its auxiliary, are preparing to attend the state convention to begin Sunday in Lima. William Betts, Jr. and Paul Betz are Legion delegates and Mrs. William Betts, Jr. and Mrs. Paul Betz are auxiliary delegates.

The first official act of the convention will be the annual parade and frolic of the 40 et 8 to take place at 8 p. m. Saturday. There will be some kind of activity through Tuesday.

Louis A. Johnson, of Charleston, W. Va., national commander, will be a convention guest with commanders of several states also to attend.

Shutting the Gates

UNCLE Sam's wide open gate, through which used to flow freely all the despondent populations of Europe! How proud we used to be of that wide open door, and of that big heart that could take in the poor and suffering of the world, and plant them amid prolific fields and gorgeous harvests, and give every son of despair a new home!

But when jobs became scarce in our land, and there were no fat farms to give away, the prosperity of thus admitting the poor and oppressed of all nations was questioned. It was still more questioned when we learned that our beloved country was being looked at as a paradise for criminals. We had plenty enough graduates from our own prison cells, without taking in thousands more.

So we have had immigration restriction, until at least it is almost down to zero. Last year only about 8,000 entered, while 103, left us. The door is narrow and quite well barred, as compared with that enormous gate through which nearly 7,000,000 entered during six of the years from 1905 to 1915.

But there are all the illegal entries how many, no one knows. A steady procession of stealthy sneaks worming their way in through our ports or over the borders, dropped by airplanes, smuggled in ships, a most unworthy accession, law breakers from the first day. That problem remains unsolved.

But the idea has at last penetrated the European mind, that gold can no longer be picked up in American streets. Nor can an immigrant start in with a pair of overalls, and 25 cents, and in a couple of years become a merchant prince. No, the place for those poor folks is at home, where they can speak the language of the land, and will not be forever baffled by strange customs and slick sharpers.

States Warned

HARRY L. Hopkins, federal relief administrator, again has warned the states that unless they do their part the $500,000,000 appropriated by congress for relief purposes will not last thru the coming winter.

Already contributions out of this fund made to states have passed $100,000,000. "The $500,000,000 will be enough to see us through this winter if we can make the states do their share," he said. "If they don't, it won't be enough."

Half of the $500,000,000 total is being allotted states on the basis of one dollar for every three spent by the states for relief purposes in a three-months' period. The balance is distributed by the administrator according to the need and may be alloted as outright gifts.

How great will be the need of unemployment relief this winter can not be known now. Increasing employment, if it continues should lighten the loads on relief agencies. There can be little doubt, though, even under the most favorable prospects, that there will be need for considerable help.

It is important that preparations for meeting this be made now. The relief director in reminding states to do their part is taking proper steps. Exhaustion of the federal fund would cause a serious situation.

"STOLEN LOVE"

by HAZEL LIVINGSTON

COPYRIGHT BY KING FEATURES SYNDICATE, INC.

WHAT HAS HAPPENED SO FAR.

Joan Hastings, seventeen and beautiful, lives a secluded life with her two old maiden aunts in a house long run to seed. Aunt Evvie, discovering that Joan has visited a dance hall, angrily reveals to her the story of how her mother had won her father away from Aunt Babe. Joan, alone in her room, clasps to her heart a miniature of her mother and refuses to believe she was anything but good.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

CHAPTER 3

It was down there in the rose garden under the window that Veronica and Peter had met. Joan could see them, just as they must have looked. Veronica in a white ruffled organdie, all billowing skirts, and blue sash, with a floppy hat shading her fly-a-way hair. Peter, tall, dark-eyed Peter by her side. How they must have loved each other! Oh, what a wonderful thing it would be to have someone to love—to be loved, as Veronica was. It wouldn't matter what happened after that. It wouldn't matter if you died then, like Veronica and Peter . . .

"Miss Joan! Miss Jo-an!" Heeley's harsh voice cut into her thoughts like a knife.

"Yes?" Joan scrambled to her feet, and opened the door to the hall. "What do you want, Mrs. Heeley?"

"I want you to come set the table, that's what I want. A body can't do everythin' all alone in this house. My neuralgia throbbin' like—"

"All right—just a minute till I comb my hair—"

"Mind you hurry—my neuralgia.— Mumble—mumble—"

Joan hastily pulled the comb through her short, wavy hair which Aunt Evvie cut for her, at the great peril of her ears, every other Saturday night so that it would be neat for church on Sunday. For just a moment she lingered in front of the old maple dresser. She patted the bright, tawny waves. "I do look like her—a lot. Of course, she had long hair, but—"

"Jo-an!"

"I'm coming!"

"Try not to rattle the whole house when you come down. Try to walk like a lady, please!" Aunt Babe whined, as Joan ran down the steps into the library, where Aunt Evvie and Aunt Babe were sitting, waiting for dinner.

Setting the table was a rite. The heavy silence cloth, the shining damask cloth, the cut glass and silver all had to be laid as if for a banquet, even though there was to be nothing but codfish and tea.

The teaspoons looked dark. Joan placing them carefully on the table hoped that Aunt Evvie wouldn't notice. It was her work to clean the silver.

Oh, dear! Aunt Babe and Aunt Evvie were fighting again. The sound of their angry voices came clearly across the hall from the library. Aunt Evvie's bass, drowning out Babe's thin treble:

"So I bought the automobile on the spot."

"You what?" Aunt Babe shrilled.

"I said I bought the automobile. You aren't deaf, are you, Babe?" Evvie was shouting. "It's a very good automobile. I could tell as soon as I heard the engine."

"But an automobile—an automobile—what do we want with an—"

Joan, listening in the dining room, held her breath. What did Aunt Evvie want with an automobile, and where would she get the money? It was funny about Aunt Evvie—she was always saying there was no more money left—and then mysteriously buying a gold mine, or an oil well or something.

"What do I want an automobile for?" Aunt Evvie was trying to mimic Babe. "To go in the real estate business with. That's what for. Somebody has to do something around here. You don't do anything. I'm going to get some land farther up, and sub-divide. All kinds of money in it, Babe. In three months I'll be able to pay back—"

"You've gone and taken out another mortgage, Evvie. Oh Evvie, how could you? On our own home, that Papa left us—oh Evvie—we'll lose it—I know we will." Babe was weeping outright now.

"That's all you know. I tell you there's big money—"

Joan didn't wait to hear any more. Aunt Evvie had been raising money on the property and pretty soon it would be all gone. Then there would be another fight. "Anyway, I don't see how we can get much poorer," she thought, and went into the kitchen for the bread and butter.

When she came back to finish setting the table Aunt Evvie's voice was still rumbling along like a steam roller, drowning out Babe's tearful objections.

"So the boy from Gerwin's garage is going to come every Wednesday to clean and oil it, while we're at the Sewing Circle and won't need it. I could do it myself," Evvie was saying, "but after all we have a position to keep up, especially with me going into business."

Bill looked up and saw Joan silhouetted against the red curtains, a golden shining thing.

There was a noise outside. The sound of an auto horn. Aunt Evvie was at the front door in a couple of long manly strides.

"Drive it around here, boy. To the stable!" she shouted.

Joan pushed the red velour curtains aside.

A newly painted touring car, of impressive make, and ancient vintage. And at the wheel, bare-headed and grinning, his freckled face streaked with dirt, was Bill Martin who used to play football at school!

Joan's curiosity was getting the best of her. To think of Aunt Evvie owning an automobile, and Bill Martin—Bill Martin—bringing it home!

She had never spoken to Bill, he was considered rather tough because he lived down in the hollow, and worked on the docks in San Francisco in vacation time. Nobody knew him very well.

What in the world was Aunt Evvie crawling under the car for? Joan raised the window to get a better look.

The window squeaked as she raised it. The boy who had worked on the docks and was going to wash the car on Wednesdays looked up. He saw Joan, silhouetted against the red curtains, a golden, shining thing, drenched in the glory of the sunset. He hadn't had much time for girls. The high school ones were giggling children—the older ones, like Katie in the Waffle Kitchen and Dolores—well, he hadn't any time for them either. But this one—this one—

He had forgotten that he had ever seen her before. Forgotten the big woman inspecting the engine. Forgotten that the flaming glory that enveloped the girl was the gift of the sunset.

Joan drew back, her heart beating wildly. She had forgotten the elderly woman and the car, too. She only saw a boy looking up at her from the rose garden.

Afterwards, Joan thought she must have imagined it. It must have been the sun in her eyes that made him seem to look at her that way, and still . . . and still . . . he had looked up at her, standing there in the window, with a kind of wonder in his face, as if he were looking at a princess. A princess out of a book.

"He liked me right away," she thought. And when the girls in the schoolyard gathered in a tight, giggling little group about Hilda Sedgwick, who didn't like her any more, she didn't care—much. "I s'pose they're talking about me again. Making fun of my shoes or something. Well, I don't care—he never even saw them. He just—saw me!"

And the little fire that Bill's one admiring glance had kindled in her heart, warmed her. Sent tingling little shivers racing down her back.

The girls stopped speaking to her. Nobody had paid any attention to her since the day Hilda got mad at her. Hilda was the most popular girl in High School. All the good times centered around the Sedgwick's big hospitable house on the hill. So long as Hilda championed her she was one of them, or as much one of them as a shabby, old-fashioned little girl in shiny serge and cotton stockings can be one of a group of well dressed moderns.

Most of them really liked Joan—she was always bubbling over with fun and ideas, but as Dorothy Nailor said afterwards, "It's kind of a relief to be rid of her, 'cause you simply hate to be seen with a frump like that. It makes you feel kind of funny inside."

So Joan was dropped—ostracized, and occasionally sneered at, with the amazing callousness and cruelty that only the teens are capable of. At recess she stood all alone in her corner of the school-yard, like a maimed yellow chick, deserted by its fellows.

"We danced three dances—three! Oh, he's the most wonderful dancer. When you dance with him—I can't explain it—but it's wonderful. He's the most wonderful—"

"Uh-huh. Did I tell you what Bert said to me on the way home? Listen—I want to tell you what Bert said—listen—"

"Nile green—all ruffled, with the cunningest little puff sleeves, and the teeniest, tiniest little shirrings of—"

Joan tried not to listen to them, but they shouted so, trying to drown each other out, that she couldn't help it. They had such good times, such awfully good times, and she was so left out . . .

Good Teeth Point Way To Health

Doctor Urges Many Visits to Dentist, Daily Brushings

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.
United States senator from New York
Former Commissioner of Health, New York City

I AM OFTEN asked, "What is a good toothbrush?" The wise choice of a toothbrush is essential to the proper care of the teeth.

Brushes vary in size and shape. Some prefer a soft brush, but probably it is better to use one having stiff bristles. Choose a well made brush that is not too large. A cheap one quickly sheds its bristles, and those that don't fall out become soft.

Dr. Copeland

As I have talked with hem, most dentists advise the use of a medium - sized brush with fairly stiff bristles. See that the bristles are tufted and have spaces between them. For children, of course, a small-sized brush is recommended. The size of the toothbrush should be suited to the size of the mouth.

A very good plan, as I view it, is proposed by some of the dental profession; this is to employ two toothbrushes. One is used in the morning and the other in the evening. You will get the most out of the toothbrush if you follow this plan. But above all else, discard a toothbrush when the bristles begin to fall out and become matted.

Maintain Health

The value of good teeth in the maintenance of health cannot be overemphasized. Teeth that harbor germs are related to diseases in various parts of the body. Diseased teeth undermine the general health and lower the resistance of the body against infections. It has been repeatedly shown that infections of the nose, eye, sinuses, stomach and even the intestinal tract can be traced to infected teeth. Arthritis, neuritis, heart and kidney disease, are other afflictions of modern civilization traced to neglected and decayed teeth.

In addition to daily brushing of the teeth, regular visits to the dentist are imperative. Baby teeth should receive the same dental care that is advised for adults.

I cannot speak too strongly about the need of proper dental attention for children who are cutting their "six-year molars".

Not so long ago I told you about the importance of the diet in building strong and sturdy teeth. It was pointed out that milk, green leafy vegetables and fresh fruits contain important substances that prevent the decay of teeth. Foods that are rich in minerals preserve the strength of the teeth. Lime and phosphorus are minerals particularly needed in the diet.

Answers to Health Queries

E. M. Q.—What do you advise for pyorrhea?

A.—Consult your dentist for treatment.

M. T. Q.—Is water fattening if taken with meals?

A.—No.

Artistic Pride

By IRVIN S. COBB

DURING Lent the talented young woman who served as organist for the little Episcopal church in a small Virginia town worked hard on her preparation for the Easter musical program. In fact, she worked so hard that toward the end of the forty days she had a slight nervous breakdown. The choir was properly rehearsed for the great day but she had to go to bed.

In this emergency the rector sent up to Richmond for a substitute, who officiated in her stead. A few days later the regular performer being now almost recovered, met her faithful ally, the venerable colored sexton, on the street.

"Well, Uncle Henry," she said, when he had congratulated her upon getting well, "how did you like the visiting organist who took my place at Easter?"

"Well, Miss Nelly," said Uncle Henry, "I reckin he done the very best he knowed how. But I taken notice of a couple of pieces I wuz able to pump dat he wuzn't able to play."

MOVIES

AT THE CLIFTONA

English theatrical talent is emigrating to America these days.

Cary Grant and Benita Hume, both of whom came from England to America to display their theatrical talent here, agree on that fact. They explained why during the filming of "Gambling Ship," melo-drama in which they play the leading role. It opens today at the Cliftona Theatre.

Grant, the tall, dark-haired Briton who in one year came from obscure roles in Hollywood to the masculine lead opposite Sylvia Sidney, in "Madame Butterfly" and a co-featured role with Fredric March in "The Eagle and The Hawk," thinks it is because the theatre is reaching its ultimate through the talking screen. The talking screen, he goes on, has achieved its ultimate in America. Hence, the best talent naturally reaches America.

Miss Hume, English stage and screen star, made her first American movie appearance with Leslie Howard in "Reserved for Ladies," a British-made picture which was enthusiastically received here. Her most recent appearance in pictures was with Lionel Barrymore in "Looking Forward."

AT THE GRAND

Tim McCoy, whose latest Columbia picture, "The Whirlwind," comes to the Grand Theatre Friday, was born in Saginaw, Michigan, but settled on a ranch in Wyoming as a youth .... Owns a 10,000 acre ranch there now. One of two white men considered to be an authority on the Indian language .... Was a captain in the cavalry in the World War. Is the fastest man in the world in drawing a six-shooter and "fanning" it. Is affable and likeable off the screen.

The Open Market

An open market is one that is free to all as distinguished from one in which participation is restricted to members of an exchange. In Wall Street terms, the open market for securities rises everywhere outside the floor of the Stock Exchange. In other words, the open market refers to the public as a market.

Will Rogers Picks A Story For This Spot

By WILL ROGERS

THE young girls are getting so smart nowadays that the boys are scared of 'em. It's a fact. A lot of these modern girls just naturally wisecrack themselves out of a good prospect for a right good husband and home. They make out like they don't want any husband, you know. Of course, it's all right for a girl to play like she don't want any husband, just so's she don't do too good a job of acting about it. Well, and some of 'em, even after they have got their husband, they wisecrack him so that he has got to commit suicide or something.

One of these girls took her new husband into a restaurant, and while they were eating breakfast they quarreled a little, and she was just ready to hit her bridegroom, who wasn't very big, when the waiter come along.

This here waiter was wanting to earn his tip, so he says:

"Is your egg all right?"

"Oh yes," she says, "he's all right for a little while. I only married him for his money, anhow!"

Impending Change

Banking boys don't seem to fit into the scheme of the NRA.

The inside dope is that big, bulky John M. Hancock, NRA Executive Secretary, and Edward B. Kapp, his small, thin assistant, are to be replaced. They will return to Lehman Brothers, New York private banking house, from which they were "borrowed."

The banking couple have not been a success in the NRA setup. Both are of unquestioned competence and integrity. But in a situation requiring a maximum of informality and co-operation, they have persisted in red-tape and aloofness. That doubtless is the approved practice in a counting house, but not in Washington these New Deal days.

Reds and Refrigerators

Major General Amos A. Fries, U. S. A. retired, is trying to scare people about the Bolshevist activities of the Roosevelt Administration. As a high officer of the Sons of the American Revolution and the Key Men of America, he has just perpetrated a 3,500 word letter warning them of the danger which faces the country.

Much of the wordage is devoted to the menace of having the innocuous ex-Senator from Iowa, Smith W. Brookhart, go to Russia to try to sell the Bolshevics farm products. But after seven pages of dire warning, General Fries appends some good horse sense. The letter concludes:

"P. S. If you have an electric refrigerator in your home and want to get maximum efficiency, defrost the coils every morning by turning off the current long enough for the ice to just melt the coils."

I've Often Wondered

By PAT J. KIRWIN

WHY the General Motors Corporation preferred to call their famous motor-car product, BUICK?

I've learned with much interest that this famous motor car takes its name from its creator—David BUICK—who was brought to America by his father, a sturdy Scotch carpenter, when he was little more than a babe in arms.

The other day, John B. Terns, an official of General Motors, told me the following story about David Buick:

"David Buick left the public schools of Detroit when he was twelve—apprenticed himself to the firm of Flower Brothers, brass foundry and finishers—and later, at 26, organized the firm of Buick and Sherwood. Here he invented and manufactured bathroom features until in 1901, when their business had grown to include two plants and 600 employees, the partners sold out to the Standard Sanitary Mfg. Co., and David Buick with $100,000 in cash returned to follow his earlier dream—the horseless carriage."

"He had been interested in automobiles as early as 1893. Had cleaned out a barn at the rear of his house, fitted up a machine shop and built a car, in 1896, which would do everything but run! But it wasn't until 1903, after he had spent all of his money in experimentation, that he hit upon the valve-in-head idea, which is still the basic principle of Buick cars today. And then David Buick applied to Flint capitalists for aid."

* * *

"The capitalists promised aid if Buick would make the run, 68 miles, from Detroit to Flint. Dave Buick determined that he would do it. Bright and early one September day of 1903 he and a cousin cranked up, stepped in and put-putted down the dirt street from the shop in an ex-overall factory at Howard and 12th-sts, Detroit, toward the promised land of Flint. He simply had to make it. He had squandered all he had in his invention. About all he had left was his faith in his funny sputtering little machine as he had spent all his money and was still $5,000 in debt."

* * *

"Anyway, with high hopes and a light heart, Dave Buick started gaily off to Flint. For the first ten miles he didn't have any trouble at all worth speaking about. Here he was, rattling along in fine shape—when suddenly, just as he had almost reached Pontiac, he hit a rut and something had happened. He got out and got under—as the now forgotten old motor song used to have it. He found his rear axle had cracked. And there he was less than half-way to Flint. He had a drayman haul his car back to Detroit. He and his son 'whittled' out a new axle. He was going to try again."

* * *

"The second time he swore a little and prayed a little—and made it by supper time. It was a classic run—a historical event. David Buick died in March, 1929, at the age of 74—but his creation—the Buick car, and his name, still live on."

British Malaya's Products

The most important agricultural commodity of British Malaya is rubber; but coconuts are also extensively grown, and so also are spices, tobacco and pepper. Rice is also cultivated largely, but as it is the staple diet of the inhabitants, great quantities have also to be imported. Within recent years coffee, tea and tobacco have been given some attention, and may yet prove to be remunerative.

Insects Do Circus Stunts

Fleas are not the only insects trained to do stunts, although they are the easiest to handle. Bees and beetles have been harnessed to pull loads, grasshoppers have been matched in steeplechase races, where they have tiny fences to hurdle.
